10-DAY STAY GRANTED

Parks Admitted to Bail in Sum of $2000 As Climax In Imperial Valley War

(By United Press) EL CENTRO, Calif., Jan. 23.—Norman H. Parks, editor of the Holtville Tribune, was adjudged guilty of contempt of court by a trio of jurists, after a one-day trial here.

Decision came late last night, after a full day of proceedings. The editor was ordered imprisoned five days in the county jail and assessed a fine of $500, with the alternative sentence of 100 days in jail and no fine.

The decision against Parks was based on an editorial the editor carried in his newspaper, terming a decision rendered here by Judge Ira R. Thompson, Los Angeles, "judicial bolshevism."

Judge Thompson and Judges Lacey D. Jennings, San Diego, and George R. Freeman, Riverside, presided at Parks' trial.

The jurists granted a 10-day stay of execution with bail of $2000.

The case against Parks concerned criticism of a decision rendered by Judge Thompson on Sept. 25, 1925, granting a temporary restraining order to circulation of a petition for recall of District Attorney Ulysses.

The controversy involved rival political factions in the Imperial valley, split wide open on arguments for and against the proposed Boulder canyon dam and the all-American canal.

The big auditorium has a seating capacity of 6500, with additional seats for 1200 persons on the stage during conventions and public gatherings. The stage is America's largest, measuring 192 feet in width and 72 feet in depth.

The building was privately dedicated last week by the Shriners.

Two Airmen Rescued From Ocean

VENICE, Jan. 23.—After floating helplessly for hours in a heavy sea two miles off shore, C. B. Kireddy, pilot, and his mechanic, J. P. McCantz, were rescued early today by the heroic action of J. Val Lesleur, another aviator.

Kireddy and McCantz, flying a hydroplane from the U. S. S. New Mexico, were forced to the sea when their gasoline tank ran dry.

Val Lesleur brought his plane to the surface and, with the aid of a tow line, brought the hydroplane and its occupants to shore.

3 WOMEN TO TURN AGAINST KILLER DURKIN

(By United Press) CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—At least three of Martin Durkin's "lights of love" will be arrayed against him when he goes to trial for murder, according to plans of the prosecution today.

Betty Werner, "the woman scorned," is ready to tell all she knows, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe announced.

Betty, abandoned by Durkin for Irma Sullivan, the 18-year-old country girl, has made a statement to the prosecutor, and Crowe said he was satisfied Betty's tale would help send the killer to the gallows.

Crowe said he would ask Sadie Stroka, Durkin's first wife, and Ruth Fieback Durkin, his second wife, to join Betty in aiding the state.

Durkin is divorced from Sadie, but is not divorced from Ruth, Crowe said.

The marriage to Irma is illegal in view of the failure to divorce Ruth, Crowe said. If the latest marriage can be annulled, Crowe will try to put Irma on the stand.

Durkin was allowed to see Irma for one hour yesterday. For want of a better place, they were given the death cell. Irma reiterated her determination to "stick" to her husband.

She said she regarded herself as his wife despite the failure of Durkin to divorce Ruth. Durkin will be arraigned January 29. He is charged with killing Edward Shanahan, government agent, and Police Sgt. Harry Gray.

ELDER COOLIDGE GROWING WEAKER

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Jan. 23.—Following a visit to the home of Col. John C. Coolidge today, Dr. Albert M. Cram, of Bridgewater, his physician, told the United Press the president's father had lost considerable strength and was gradually growing weaker.

Dr. Cram thought, however, there was no immediate danger. The colonel's weakened condition, he said, was due to some extent to a loss of appetite.

Colonel Coolidge has suffered no recurrence of "heart block," according to Dr. Cram, and is experiencing some sensations in his paralyzed limbs, but, because of his waning strength, his general condition is not considered so good as it was two weeks ago.

Using his newly installed telephone, the colonel talked for several minutes last night with the president in Washington.

Slew His Wife's Mother, Charge

REDDING, Calif., Jan. 23.—Henry Saffell was charged with murder here today, following the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary McKay, from wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Saffell in an attack of jealous rage.

According to authorities, Saffell went to Mrs. McKay's home near Oak Bottom, Wednesday, and opened fire on Mrs. McKay and his wife, who had been separated from him for several months.

Mrs. Saffell, shot through the abdomen, is in a hospital here and may recover.

8 PERISH AS NIGHT BLAZE RAZES HOTEL

From Five to Seven Other Victims Believed to Be In Ruins of Old Hostelry

TWO LEAP TO DEATH

Guests, Trapped by Fire, Hang from Ledges Until Rescued by Firemen

(By United Press) ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 23.—Eight persons are known to be dead, from five to seven other victims are believed buried in the ruins and 14 guests were injured when a fire swept through the five floors of the Lafayette hotel, a 100-year-old structure here, shortly after 2 a. m. today.

Four of the bodies of the dead have been identified. Three were guests and the fourth, Miss Anna Novak, was an employee of the hostelry.

The smoldering ruins were being searched late today for further victims. Two guests were killed by leaping from their bedroom windows in attempts to escape the flames and the others were suffocated or burned in their rooms and in the hotel corridors.

Although the hostelry can accommodate 200 guests, only 25 were believed to have been in the hotel when the fire occurred.

Many of the guests, trapped in the structure by the flames, hung from window ledges, clad only in night clothes, until firemen were able to put up ladders to rescue them.

The temperature when the fire broke out was 10 above zero.

LEWIS SEEKS NEW MINE CONFERENCE

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 23.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today asked that the wage conference of miners and operators be reconvened at once in another effort to break the anthracite strike deadlock.

Lewis' petition for a resumption of negotiations, which were broken off in New York City, January 12, was contained in a message he addressed to Alvan Markle, of Hazleton, chairman of the joint coal conference.

The miners' president asked Chairman Markle that the forthcoming conference be open to the press.

Under the terms of the adjournment taken 10 days ago by the operators and miners, after weeks of fruitless debate, the conference can be reconvened at the suggestion of either side.

RAKER DEAD; IN CONGRESS EIGHT TERMS

Senior California Member Of Representatives Succumbs in National Capital

ADJOURN IN TRIBUTE

Lawmakers Cease Business For Day Out of Respect For Deceased Colleague

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—Representative John E. Raker, California, died at his home here last night. He had been ill since five weeks ago, when he was operated on for a stomach abscess. He was 62 years old and a Democrat.

The house of representatives today adjourned out of respect for the memory of Representative Raker.

Immediately after the house convened, Representative Clarence Lea, Democrat, California, informed the house of Raker's death, a resolution of regret was passed and adjournment was taken.

The body will leave here Wednesday for burial in California, although arrangements are not yet complete. The entire California delegation will be appointed as a committee to accompany it.

From Second District
Raker represented the second California district, composed of 16 counties along the backbone of the northern Sierra Nevada mountains. He was first elected to congress in 1910, and served continuously until his death, weathering all political storms in which his state went Republican. Raker's eight terms of service had elevated him to the ranking position on the important public lands committee and close to the top of the equally important immigration and irrigation committees.

Raker was a native of Illinois, born near Knoxville, Feb. 22, 1863. He moved to California at an early age and, after an education at the state normal school there, entered the practice of law at Alturas, in Modoc county. He became district attorney of the county and ultimately judge of the superior court, from which he resigned in 1910 to go to congress.

SENIOR CONGRESSMAN FROM CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—California lost its senior member in the lower house of congress with the death last night of Congressman John E. Raker, of Alturas.

Death followed a long illness, during which Congressman Raker frequently was reported recovering. Two weeks ago, the oath of office was administered to him as he lay in the hospital, Speaker Longworth making a special trip to his bedside.

Born in Illinois, Raker's parents brought him to Lassen county, Calif., when he was 10 years of age. He married Miss Iva G. Spencer, daughter of a former law partner, in 1889.

Locally Raker is best known as the author of the Raker bill, enabling San Francisco to develop the Hetch Hetchy water and power project.

Private Funeral Held for Sharon

PIEDMONT, Calif., Jan. 23.—Private funeral services were held here today for William E. Sharon, 73, San Francisco and Nevada capitalist.

Sharon was nephew of William Sharon, famous Comstock lode financier and first cousin of the late Lady Hesketh, of London.

Lady Hesketh's death called him to London to settle her estate, from which he inherited some millions of dollars. His illness started after his return here in 1925.

Sharon had been a member of the state senate in Nevada.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST DRUNKS DRIVING CARS HELD FAILURE

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The nation-wide campaign against drunken automobile drivers has failed, according to statistics compiled by the American Automobile association. No decrease in the number of arrests and convictions for this offense was noticeable in the last year, the association stated today.

The compilation showed some glaring inconsistencies. For instance, Detroit had 567 convictions on this charge in 1925, while New York had only 292. The association hesitates to brand Detroit with having more drunken drivers than New York.

"It may very well mean that the seriousness of the offense," the statement said.

And again, Boston had 526 convictions in 1925, while Philadelphia had only 56 for the first seven months of the year. Washington took a leading position, with 293 convictions, while Baltimore, a much larger city than Washington, had only 138 convictions for the whole year.

FLYER DELAYS WORLD COURT HOP-OFF FROM CANARY ISLES ARE PROPOSED

(By United Press) LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Jan. 23.—Delayed so long today by his preparations for taking off for the Cape Verde islands, in his Spain-Buenos Aires flight, Com. Ramon Franco decided to postpone his next jump until tomorrow.

Commander Franco today heard mass with his companions in the chapel of San Antonio, where Christ-opher Columbus and his men had done likewise more than four centuries ago.

Columbus and his brave adventurers, in quest of a new world, had solemnly heard mass there before pushing their quaint craft across unknown seas. Today, in an age of airplanes, undersea boats and radio, the first Spaniards seeking to link by air their homeland with Argentina sat in the ancient church to obtain the solace and inspiration which Columbus had for his adventure.

The exact time for Franco to push off for the next stop to the southwest in his 6300-mile project was not determined.

BELGIAN WAR HERO PASSES IN BRUSSELS

Famous Churchman Who In 1914 Defied Military Leaders of Germany, Dies

VISITED U. S. IN 1919

Prelate Stubbornly Fights Against Ravages of Disease, But Finally Yields

(By United Press) BRUSSELS, Jan. 23.—Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's brave prelate, died here today at 3 p. m. after several weeks' illness, following a stomach operation.

Courageous in his last days, the cardinal passed on peacefully. During the night, the cardinal had rallied slightly after physicians had announced he would probably not last the night out.

Death came to the cardinal in his 75th year and a nation that revered him for all his war-time defiance of the German invaders went into mourning.

Knew Death Approached.
The cardinal had realized for some days that the end was near. His physicians counseled him against receiving visits and against complicating his condition with thoughts of church work, to which he had devoted a lifetime. But the cardinal felt that his last hours should be marked by further deeds of good.

So earlier in the week, he insisted on considering church business, on receiving Queen Elizabeth and only on Thursday, on greeting Crown Prince Leopold, back from a 13 months' visit in the Congo. To the crown prince, kneeling beside his bed, the dying prelate extended his blessing.

His illness had been followed with genuine sorrow through the little kingdom. Masses were said in all churches for his recovery and school children everywhere offered their prayers for the man who had told his people in the war days that they owed no obedience to the iron regime of the German occupying masters.

Oxygen Is Administered.
During the forenoon, oxygen had been administered to the cardinal to relieve his difficult breathing. This reacted only briefly, however, and he sank constantly until 3 p. m., when death came to him peacefully.

In an anteroom chamber awaited church dignitaries. He had had already the last sacrament of the church he so faithfully served. Prayers were said yesterday afternoon, the cardinal joining feebly while old servants of the household wept, for they, like he, knew that it was only a matter of hours before he would die.

For an hour before death the cardinal was in a deep coma, his eyes closed as though death already had come.

Prof. Charles Mercier, of South Bend, Ind., and the cardinal's physician, Dr. Van Hee, were at his bedside as the cardinal's nephew, Joseph Mercier, celebrated mass before his death.

Noted Throughout World
With the passing of Cardinal Mercier, one of the heroic figures of the war died. Mercier refused to bow his head to the yoke of the German invaders of his country and he gained fame throughout the world by his Christmas, 1914, letter, in which he declared that Germany, by her march through Belgium, had broken faith. But he added fearlessly:

"Occupied provinces are not conquered provinces. The authority of the invader is not lawful authority. Therefore, in soul and conscience, you owe it neither respect, attachment nor obedience."

This flaunting of the German masters, the cardinal was imprisoned in his home, but he still would not yield to the German general von Bissing, who had failed, despite the detailing of many spies, to prevent circulation of this letter.

New Thorn For Germans
Again, in the spring of 1916, the cardinal, his spirit still militant in the cause of Belgium, issued a new pastoral letter which proved to be a new thorn in the flesh of the German militarists.

In this second message to his flock, the cardinal called upon the Belgians to "prepare your plans, place your batteries, co-ordinate your movements and remember that man proposes, but God disposes."

The Germans sought an apology for what they deemed a clerical call to God for wiping out the German armies. But the intrepid cardinal stood pat and the invaders came out of the struggle without the desired apology.

The cardinal is known in the United States, where he was highly honored on his 1919 visit, being received by Gen. John J. Pershing and accorded degrees and other tributes in his journey.

Cardinal Mercier was born Nov. 22, 1851, in a little town near Waterloo. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1874 and three years later was made a professor in the Malines university. In 1886, he was appointed domestic prelate and in 1897 became cardinal.

NIMBLE DOLLAR FINDS ITS WAY BACK TO BANK

Do women spend more time in the beauty parlor than men do in the barber shop? Is one fifth of the money spent in Santa Ana exchanged for groceries? These and other questions are left unanswered in the wake of the "thrift" dollar, in its wanderings through the downtown business houses.

While it has failed to live up to its reputation as a nimble dollar, the $1 bill, which started out from the Bank of Italy Monday morning as a Thrift week demonstration, has this week purchased $15 worth of merchandise in Santa Ana. This restless piece of currency has passed virtually from one end of the city to the other. Without inquiring too closely into the rate of profit charged at local places of business, and concluding as an arbitrary figure that each merchant has made a profit of 10 per cent on each $1 sale, this vagrant dollar bill has earned for the Santa Ana merchants collectively 1 1/2 times its own value during the period of observation.

Start Savings Account

When M. D. Clark, cashier of the Santa Ana branch of the Bank of Italy, took the thrift dollar to the Harnois Stationery and Book store and spent it for pencils, he made a notation on the bottom of the card, to which the bill was attached, to the effect that the fifteenth person receiving the money would be credited with a $2 savings account at the bank. The dollar was so deposited late yesterday by the drug firm of Givens and Cannon. During its absence from the bank this enterprising piece of money has purchased a wide variety of articles and services. Regardless of the fact that it has changed hands frequently, it could be expected that it return to the bank in a highly presentable condition, because it has made two trips to the barber shop and one to the laundry. There was a time when a man was regarded as thrifty if he saved his money and allowed his hair to grow down and flit with his collar bone, but at least two men in Santa Ana have the idea that a well groomed man presents a more acceptable appearance of thrift than the long-haired person just mentioned. These two men are convinced they had their dollar's worth in a shave, a haircut and the other pleasant things a good barber can do.

Following the dollar from the bank Monday morning, the course is traced to the Harnois store, to the Piggly-Wiggly store, to the Davis Clothing store, to Gerard brothers, to the Brown meat market, to the Lawrence news stand, in the West End theater building, then to the White Cross drug store, to the men's shop of Spencer Collins, to the Becker barber shop, on Main street, to the Santa Ana Laundry, the Fuller confectionery, the Alexandra barber shop, to Mulholland's grocery, on West Fourth, to the Givens and Cannon drug store and then back to the bank.

Three times the alleged nimble dollar was spent for groceries, twice it found its way into drug stores and twice it went for the improvement of the spender's personal appearance. Other purchases were pencils, coffee, hose, meat, cigars, magazines, collars, laundry and lunch.

One Woman Gets Dollar

Every purchase, except one, was made by a man. The only woman through whose hands the bill passed was Mrs. E. Davis, of the Davis Clothing store. She spent it with a grocer. With no more than 15 purchases made, it would be impractical to attempt a conclusive analysis as to the trend of money spending. It is claimed that it would be erroneous to conclude that three dollars out of every 15 are spent for groceries, or that two dollars of every 15 goes to the barber shop. It was pointed out that if this particular dollar had been spent 15 times by women the purchases would have been quite different, although there was no assertion made as to whether the purchases would more closely have followed the accepted idea of thrifty buying.

During its tour of Santa Ana business houses, the thrift dollar has helped to absorb the products of a wide variety of enterprises, not only in Santa Ana but in all parts of America and in many foreign countries. It has paid its small share of the wages earned in countless operations that have to do with the preparation of goods for the market. It has emphasized the dependence of one branch of industry upon another.

"There was a time," said M. D. Clark, "when each man made his own shoes and those for his family. Each household, in the days gone by, made its own clothing and preserved its own food. In the earlier stages of developing commerce, each household virtually was independent of the rest of the world but our modern civilization has taught us that each man should follow the work for which he is best suited and from his earnings purchase the goods produced by men specializing in other lines. We are no longer independent, but must depend upon one another and pay for such service. A dollar is worthless unless it is put to some useful work."

It was pointed out that if the wise expenditure of one dollar 15 times represents a collective profit of 150 per cent, it follows that many dollars, spent many times, would make for general prosperity.

To a great extent women are barred from automobile and motorcycle racing in Europe. The Auto-Cycle Union specifically excludes women from racing, though permitting and encouraging them to take part in reliability trials.

RUG BURGLAR'S ATTEMPT TO OVERPOWER DEPUTY SHERIFF WITH BLACKJACK IS FAILURE

After a daring attempt to escape from Dan Adams, deputy sheriff, in whose custody he was, while enroute to Whittier yesterday, James Wilton, Orange county rug burglar de luxe, today was back in the county jail, awaiting trial on numerous robbery charges.

Wilton hit Adams on the head with an improvised blackjack as they were driving over a detour on the outskirts of Whittier.

The blackjack was a cake of soap, tied in a handkerchief. The blow was not hard enough to knock Adams unconscious but it dazed him, causing him to lose control of his machine, which was damaged when it ran into an orange grove.

Wilton's attempt to escape was a failure, however, according to a report made today by Sheriff Jer-nigan. Wilton had no chance to even leave the machine.

Wilton Is Overpowered

Wilton struggled with the officer for several minutes, but was overpowered after being pitched into the rear seat of the machine. Adams then took him to Whittier, where he was held until Ed McClellan, chief of police, arrived.

Approximately $400 worth of household goods were added to the already large amount of stolen articles recovered, according to Jer-nigan.

Four Rugs Recovered

The goods recovered yesterday included four fine rugs and a carpet sweeper, together with other smaller articles and were found in shops in Whittier, Belvedere Gardens and Huntington Beach.

The rug burglar is through visiting the pawnshops now, Jer-nigan said today. There still is a large amount of loot to be recovered, but it is comprised of goods that have been resold by the pawn brokers after they held it for a certain length of time. The officers will have to recover such articles without the aid of Wilton, Jer-nigan said.

Wilton probably will not be arraigned on the burglary charges before Monday, the sheriff said.

USES PILLOW SLIP TO TRANSPORT LOOT

The home of Arthur Tetzlaff, Fletcher road, one mile southwest of Olive, was ransacked by a burglar, who, some time Thursday, entered the house through a rear window. A number of valuable articles were stolen, the thief using a pillow slip in which to carry away his loot.

Members of the Tetzlaff family were away from home at the time of the burglary and did not report the theft until yesterday.

Members of the sheriff's office, who investigated, reported the following articles missing:

Gold watch, signet ring, child's bank, flashlight, 20 neckties, fountain pen, pair of shoes and a watch chain.

Officers are inclined to believe, they said that the burglary was committed by a tramp.

BEACH TRIO IS INJURED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Three Long Beach persons, a girl and two men, were seriously hurt last night, shortly after 11 o'clock, when the automobile, in which they were riding, overturned at the intersection of Seventeenth street and Los Alamitos boulevard.

The injured are Lois Bishop, 17, 2010 East Seventeenth street, David Hughes, 122 Belmont street, and Carlton Mallonee, 295 St. Joseph's street, all of Long Beach.

The girl was brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where she is suffering from severe bruises and cuts about the body. Her condition is not said to be dangerous.

Hughes sustained a severely injured back and Mallonee is suffering from a broken leg and cuts and bruises, it was said. The men were taken to the Artesia hospital.

According to a report of the accident, made last night by Deputy Sheriff Clyde Fowler and Jesse Elliott, the car, in which the trio was riding, was traveling at a fast rate. Upon reaching the intersection, the driver was unable to negotiate the curve and the machine turned over twice, into a ditch.

The car was a large sedan and was traveling toward Long Beach at the time of the accident.

The Well-Dressed Man
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

COLOR ROUND THE NECK Much frothy flapdoodle is written about color in men's dress. We are told, for example, that man now vies with women in the brilliancy and audacity of the shades and patterns he affects. We are told that vivid color, in, of and by itself, is the mark of The Well-Dressed Man. We are told that only the old-timer goes in for quiet effects; that you are out-of-date unless you are as ablaze as the setting sun upon a copper roof.
Nothing could be farther alike from truth or common sense. Granted that bolder colors are in vogue today, than, perhaps ever before, they are only smart to the degree that they are well chosen and blended with the man who wears a light-colored suit and overcoat together with a bright muffler, bright handkerchief, bright hat-ribbon and bright hosiery reminds one of Paradise Lost, where "arms in armour clashing bray'd horrible discord and the madding wheels of brazen chariots rag'd."
Color always has been and probably always will be the deepest pitfall of dress. That is why the fathers of fashion, in their far-seeing wisdom, kept away from color. That is why evening dress, as an instance, is arbitrarily restricted to black-and-white. That is why he who wears subdued colors is always dressed in good taste and does not have to exercise much judgment, whereas he who goes in for bright effects needs a lot of it.
Don't misunderstand—color is most desirable. It lifts the wearer out of the rut and ruck of the commonplace. It bespeaks "glad-in-alive" and "it's-a-good-old-world."
It radiates outh, sunshine, hope, hopes.
However, it is not color which is fashionable; it is the good taste with which color is employed in the theme of dress. Fix that firmly in your mind and you cannot go amiss.
A case in point—wear bright muffers with dark-colored overcoats. Do not wear bright colors next to bright colors. Otherwise, there is no contrast. Each article kills the other. For example, the bold plaid cashmere muffer sketched here, looks excellent against the background of dark-blue or dark-gray. It looks tawdry against pale shades. Such a muffer is procurable either in the square shape or in the narrow, oblong form. It usually has fringed ends.

COURT DIVORCE
MILL PRODUCES
EIGHT DECREES

Eight divorce decrees were issued in superior court late yesterday and three new divorce petitions were filed.

In department 3 of the court, Judge E. J. Marks granted decrees
as follows:

Laura V. Jordan, Santa Ana, against Jack Paul Williams, on cruelty.

Mame E. Hushman, of Anaheim, against Gustave Hushman, on grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Hushman was awarded custody of minor children and $25 per month alimony.

Harry I. Shaffer, Santa Ana, against Wallace M. Maxson, on desertion. Custody of a minor child was awarded to the plaintiff.

J. Lucille Williams, Santa Ana,
against Jack Paul Williams, on grounds of desertion.

Desertion Is Charged
Madge E. DeLapp, Huntington Beach, against Earl P. DeLapp, on grounds of desertion.

Effie C. Maxson, Santa Ana,
against Wallace M. Maxson, on grounds of non-support. The plaintiff was awarded custody of minor children and $140 per month alimony.

Superior Judge Z. B. West gave Belle Yorba, Orange a divorce from A. W. Yorba, on grounds of desertion. In the same department, Stella Caldwell was granted a decrees against Herbert Caldwell on grounds of desertion.

The new divorce complaints on file include the suit brought by Orange Villa Hall, of Orange, against Harold C. Hall.

Mrs. Hall alleges cruelty, claiming that her husband was addicted to writing worthless checks, that he failed to provide for her and that on last August 25, he went to Long Beach with another man and two girls and remained away from home all night.

The Halls married in Orange, in May, 1922, and separated last November 25. Mrs. Hall asks custody of their son, aged 2, and reasonable support for the child.

Month In Bed
Leona Lota Pesterfield lived but four months with her husband, William Pesterfield, and then spent another month in bed recovering her strength and "catching up" with her meals, which were most irregular during her married life.

She indicated in her complaint for divorce. She charged desertion and non-support.

She was so weakened from starvation when she returned to her parents' home, she said, that she could not leave her bed.

The Pesterfields were married in San Bernardino, November 3, 1923, and separated March 29, 1924.
Violet E. Gorman charged Claude
B. Gorman with desertion in her divorce complaint. They were married in Tillamook, Ore., in 1919, and separated in September, 1924.

COURT CONTINUES INJUNCTION CASE

Whether H. J. Burdorf and S.
W. Miller, of Fullerton, will procure an injunction, preventing the city of Fullerton from maintaining ditches along the Burdorf and Miller places, in the vicinity of Harvard avenue, is a question that will not be answered until January 26.

Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, after hearing some of the testimony in connection with the hearing on an order to show cause why the injunction should not issue, continued the hearing to that date.

Burdorf asks $3000 damages against the city, while Miller claims $2000 damages. In addition to the injunction. They charge that city authorities and workmen have trespassed upon their property and caused damage, in addition to the hazard they allege is created by the construction of the ditches along the streets.

Demurrers offered by the city yesterday were overruled by the court.

SANTA ANA CANYON HOME IS ROBBED

A burglar, who entered the home of Mrs. Mary A. Smith, Santa Ana canyon, 23 miles northeast of Santa Ana, yesterday afternoon, while members of the family were away from home, stole a pocketbook, containing $9, together with a silk dress, two bathrobes, gold lavalier, earrings and a brooch, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office.

Officers Flower and Elliott investigated the burglary, reporting that the loss amounted to approximately $100.

Entrance into the house was made through a rear window.

About 300 local persons are to take part in the play, which is under the direction of the composer, Robert P. Skilling. The adult section will have its first rehearsal
Tuesday night in the high school

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Millions

Orders from the BOSS!

If ever a popular-priced motor car was built-to-order to stand securely at the head of its class, that motor car is the new Cleveland Six for 1926!

In developing the 1926 models, Cleveland Six engineers worked strictly to the letter of a number of special instructions straight from headquarters.

Orders Were Carried Out
"Design bodies for the 1926 models that will over-appeal anything near the price in beauty, richness and comfort," it was ordered. The engineers promised they would... and they certainly did!

"Stop at nothing," it was ordered, "to give these models ample surplus power for leadership in traffic and easy mastery of all hills. Make Cleveland Six unquestionably the leader of its class." The engineers promised they would... and they certainly did!

It Has "One Shot" Similar orders were issued on the chassis, regarding ruggedness and balance—to include, of course, the famous Bowen-patented "One Shot" Lubrication System, which flushes every lubrication point in the entire chassis with fresh, clean lubricant the moment you press a plunger with your heel.

And when the 1926 models were finally achieved, as per orders—and had passed all tests with flying colors—deliberations turned to price. Costs were figured closely. Low prices were fixed.

Look at These Prices!
The new Model 31 Four-Door Sedan is priced $1090; the new Model 31 Coupe, $1035; the new Model 43 Special Sedan,
$1345; the new Model 43 Special Coupe, $1225—to name the leaders of the line.

See these cars. See how ably the Cleveland Six engineers have lived up to instructions. See the extra this, extra that and the extra everything Cleveland Six gives for the money.

Betrothals Weddings Receptions By Eleanor Young Elliott

Luncheon Courtesies
Extended Guests
From Iowa

Kilson Drive.

Mrs. L. E. Crist and Mrs. Sadie Cleveland were the guests especially honored, while asked to renew long-established friendships with them were Mrs. Emil Jarl of Los Angeles, Mrs. Lina Bravender, Mrs. Marvin Wick and little daughter, Barbara of Hermosa Beach, and Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Charles L. Johnson of this city.

Pink and orchid sweet peas offered an attractive floral effect in table decorations, and the appetizing luncheon was served to the accompaniment of lively chat of former days in Osceola, the friendly reminiscences continuing through the afternoon hours.

The guests from Osceola are enjoying their stay in the southland and particularly the many unique experiences offered by reason of Mrs. Crist's son, L. E. Crist Jr., being an ensign on the U. S. S. California and in charge of the fleet's radio activities. Recently Ensign Crist was host at an afternoon affair given aboard the battleship honoring his parents, Senator and Mrs. L. E. Crist and calling together scores of their old-time Iowa friends who are now Californians. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Johnson of this city were among the guests asked to enjoy the experience.

Tomorrow will bring another delightful meeting of the little group entertained here Wednesday augmented by a score or more other members of the "Osceola crowd," when Mr. and Mrs. Emil Jarl will greet them at their home in Los Angeles.

Dainty Gifts Offered Party Honoree by Her Friends

STUATED by delighted interest in the happy expectations of Mrs. William P. Strain, two warm friends of the young matron, Mrs. Alice M. Board and Miss Hannah Marston, conspired to complement her at a party and surprise gift shower given last night at Mrs. Board's home, 905 South Main street.

The home was bright with snapdragons and sweet peas. After an evening of merry games, the guests were served a refreshing raspberry ice with cake and coffee and salted almonds in dainty little pink bassinets, highly suggestive of the motif of the evening. The surprise event followed the refreshment hour when a large tray filled with attractively wrapped packages was placed before Mrs. Strain. The packages contained all manner of lovely articles for a layette and needless to say, made their new owner, happy indeed.

Those enjoying the charming intimacy of the evening included the honoree together with Mesdames Albert Wallace, Clyde Ashen, Ernie Reinko, Glen Cruser, S. M. Marston, Wayne Tibbs, Frank Bettis, Ward Bettis, Maynard Thayer, the Misses Virginia Craig, Mayme Brightwell, Myrtle Meyer and the hostesses, Miss Hannah Marston and Mrs. Alice M. Board.

Past Matrons

Past Matrons of Hermosa chapter, Order of the Eastern Star were entertained at a most charming luncheon Thursday at the Masonic temple by Mrs. Bessie Robbins, Mrs. Laura McCormack and Mrs. Martha Reinhaus. Luncheon tables were adorned with red and silver, the effect being heightened by adorned beautiful candelabra which contained red candles. After the luncheon a short business meeting was held. Roll call was answered by members giving a new year's resolution. A feature of the meeting was the showing of a sash from Eastern Star Regalia worn more than fifty years ago. The afternoon was spent socially and in sewing.

Those present were Mesdames Burke, Cora Cavens, Jessie Chapin, Lulu Drake, Ida Dumphy, Grace Finn, Laura Griffith, Blanch Hansen, Alida Huntington, Minnie Homes, Ruth Hulbert, Lella Jones, Laura Lindley, Martha Medlock, Elizabeth Moore, Laura Mitchell, Dora Pease, Jennie Peek, Donna Reeves, Mabel Rowland, Adelaide Safley, Edna Strassberger, Alice Tubbs, Mar Thomas, Carrie Toole, Tiesau Whitson, Martha Reinhaus, Bessie Robbins and Laura McCormack and Miss Pauline Reinhaus. Mrs. Hendricks of Calgary, Canada, was a guest.

Come to the Four Square Tabernacle Where? Corner Fairview and Sycamore. When? Sunday and Monday evenings at 7:30 p. m., and hear Prima Dona Evangelist Florence Glauser sing favorite Gospel songs.

VARIED SOCIAL AFFAIRS MARK PRE-LENTEN SEASON

Girlhood Friends Meet

Happy days of girlhood in Fort Wayne, Ind., some fifty years ago, took a prominent place in the many events, grave and gay, serious and amusing, recalled yesterday by a little group of friends entertained at the home of Mrs. Fannie Williams, 315 South Van Ness street, with Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Clara G. Chapman as co-hostesses.

The presence in Santa Ana for the winter of Mrs. Clinton Walton of Ft. Wayne, offered incentive for the old-time friends to gather and Mrs. Kitty Frost and Mrs. W. D. Page were summoned from San Diego to complete the group composed of Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Charles Preston, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Page and the honor guest, Mrs. Walton.

Luncheon hour was made pleasant with flowers and merry chat as an accompaniment to a delightful menu. The afternoon which followed, sped on light wings and the guests were served with a dainty supper ere time came for departure, the San Diego folk taking the Santa Fe evening train south. Several members of the little group have met from time to time with the passing of the years, but for two members, Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Frost, it was the first reunion since youthful days in 1873.

Entertains at Inn.
Choosing the private dining-room at St. Ann's Inn as the scene of her hospitality, Mrs. C. W. Burns was hostess Thursday night at a delightful dinner.

A motif of blue and gold was expressed in brilliant yellow blossoms, and in blue candelsticks in which yellow tapers gleamed. Covers were laid for Mrs. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Head, Mrs. J. E. Myers of Minneapolis, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, Miss Grace Griesby and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Tietel.

Following the dinner interval the guests assembled around the cheery fireplace in the foyer where an evening of friendly chat and reminiscences was enjoyed.

Church Wedding

A pretty wedding ceremony took place at St. Joseph's Catholic church on Wednesday at 11 a. m., when the pastor, the Rev. Father Henry Emmelen officiated at the nuptials of Miss Edith Cretin of Los Angeles, Mo., and Edgar Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tucker of 614 Garfield street.

The bride wore a striking costume of black satin, carrying an arm shepher of pink and white sweet peas, while her bridesmaid, Miss Agnes Tucker, sister of the groom, wore brown satin. Henry Turnbaugh, cousin of the bride, assisted the groom as best man. The bridal party was preceded into the church by two little flower girls, Elinor and Rita Tucker, sisters of the groom, who wore pretty little frocks of ponce silk.

Following the marriage, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom, where the pink and white color scheme was carried out with pink carnations and smilax, with a large umbrella covered with pink tulle, suspended over the table. The bride's cake was laid in pink and white and bore a miniature bride and groom.

Besides the bride and groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Tucker and family, covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Layton and daughters, Lavena and Hildegard, Mrs. Otis Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. Baker and family.

An interesting feature of the romance is the fact that the mothers of the young couple were former schoolmates in Silver Lake, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will make their home in the Johnson apartments on French street, the groom being in the produce business.

Gives Bridge Luncheon

Hostess at a charming bridge luncheon, Mrs. J. W. Norton of 301 West First street gave a coterie of her friends a very delightful afternoon yesterday at her home.

With the rooms glowing with beautiful poinsettias, Mrs. Norton greeted her guests, who were seated at two beautifully appointed tables, whose floral decorations consisted of coral and lavender sweet peas and ferns, with harmonizing accessories. At the conclusion of the bridge games, Mrs. Norton awarded the appreciated prizes to Mrs. Mollie Tyrrell, Mrs. G. V. Linsenbard and Mrs. H. C. Head.

Guests numbered Mesdames W. C. Watkins, W. O. Hill, Mollie Tyrrell, Fred Guley, Fred L. Cole, G. V. Linsenbard, Lucy Avna, H. J. Roberts, H. C. Head of this city; J. E. Prentice of Orange; Finley Rogers and Mary Lynch of the Irvine ranch, and little Miss Catherine Irvine Lillard, also of Irvine who attended the matinee in the afternoon with Mrs. Norton.

Are Luncheon Hosts.
Mr. and Mrs. Ada Vandermast were hosts at a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon on Wednesday at their home, 425 South Birch street. A dainty color motif of pink was expressed by sweet peas, in combination with ferns, the nut cups, place cards, and other appointments harmonizing.

After the delectable menu had been enjoyed, the afternoon hours were whiled away with social conversation and a drive over the city. Besides the hosts, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. P. J. De Kruff of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. George Hatley of Orange City, Ia., where Mr. Hatley is an attorney; Mesdames Walter Prince, Walter Vandermast, Murray Vandermast, P. H. Cox, Emma Lyday and G. H. Wagner of Orange City, Ia.

For Young Matron.
Members of the You-go-I-go club had conspired to surprise one of their number, Mrs. Roy Stevens, formerly Miss Velma Brownlow, with a stork shower. Interested members gathered at Mrs. Stevens' home at 1309 Maple street bringing with them beautiful and dainty gifts. After a happy afternoon they served delicious refreshments that they had brought with them for the occasion.

Those present were Mesdames Grist, J. Wyckoff, Clayton Kaufman and her daughter Maxine, Rose Hance, McGinnis, Edlison, Dorothy Touch, Foster Stevens, L. M. Hutchinson and Miss Opal Brownlow.

Class Dinner.
Fully one hundred members and guests of the Lucy Madden class of Spurgeon Memorial Sunday school participated in the happy dinner and evening party held at the church Thursday night when the husbands of class members were accorded special guest honors.

Miss Farley as chairman of the table arrangements, had planned a decorative effect of sweet peas and calla lilies that was most unusual and striking. To heighten the artistic effect were the small bouquets at each place which not only served as part of the table decorations but also provided charming favors for the guests. A delicious old-time southern dinner was enjoyed.

An after dinner interval was given over to brief but interesting talks led by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, Mrs. Henry Donan, class teacher, Mr. Hunter superintendent of the Sunday school and Messrs. Martin, Perry, Donan and John Estes sr. of St. Louis.

In the talks it was brought out that the class was organized 21 years ago by Mrs. Mosher and had had three teachers in its history, Mrs. Mosher, Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Donan. Eight charter members were among those enjoying the evening.

Mrs. T. J. Haughton as chairman of the program committee, delighted the guests by introducing the Toy Symphony orchestra directed by her daughter, Miss Carolyn Haughton, one of the city's prominent young piano teachers. The children, fifteen in all, made a charming appearance in clever little uniforms of black coats, white skirts or trousers and black and white caps. Their music was equally attractive and yielded delightful entertainment for the class members and guests.

Masonic Dance

Entertaining at the first Masonic party for many weeks, Santa Ana lodge No. 241, F. and A. M., presented a happy evening of cards and dancing last night at Masonic temple.

It was also the first social affair planned since the installation of the 1925 officers and Dr. C. V. Doty, new master and his staff, together with the social committee, were congratulated upon the friendly hospitality expressed. In the chapter room, card tables were in charge of Mrs. C. S. Dunphy and Arthur Pease. Whist was played and honors were accorded Mrs. C. E. Moore and a Los Angeles guest, Mr. Gilbert.

In the entrance hall stood a bowl of refreshing cherry punch where the players congregated at intervals. On the third floor dancing was enjoyed to the strains of all the modern popular numbers played by the Chapman orchestra. An added feature of interest was the awarding of countless boxes of delicious Laguna chocolates to holders of lucky numbers. Punch was served the dancers.

Business Women's Club

Miss Justine Whitney today declared that in view of the interest attached to Monday night's dinner and program of the Business and Professional Women's club, the members were urged to take guests that they might enjoy the music and clever little play which friends of the club will present.

Nor need the guests be limited to members of the fair sex, according to Miss Whitney, who is chairman of the January program committee. Married members of the club plan to take "Friend Husband" while many of the other member will take an escort so that there will be fair to be many men present to enjoy the evening's gaiety. While reservations were supposed to have been in today, Miss Whitney will receive them up until noon tomorrow if dilatory members have forgotten to make the necessary arrangements. Her telephone is 8033.

The dinner hour has been set at 7 o'clock and will be followed by xylophone numbers by Miss Lizette Phillips, piano numbers by Miss Elizabeth Parslow, and an entertaining play by Mrs. Robert Horn, the Misses Dorothea Smith, Elfrida Biggin and Elizabeth Bruner.

"Mother of Santa Ana" Happily Surprised
On Birthday

family dinner was planned for last night when her two sons with their wives and children, joined her at her pleasant home at the Bungalow apartments, to enjoy the anniversary feast.

Mrs. William Spurgeon Jr. had baked the delicious birthday cake, but unknown to the well-loved mother, had baked a second one and incidentally prepared a more generous supply of fruit ice than could possibly be required for the family group. Then she had suggested to Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Cuthbert, close family friends, that they drop in apparently by accident, thus paving the way for the later arrival of other after-dinner guests.

Following dinner and the arrival of the Cuthberts, William Spurgeon Jr. made an excuse to leave for a brief business conference at his office, but instead drove to the homes of various of his mother's close friends, gathering them up one at a time, to return to her home and spend the evening.

Their arrival came as a complete but very happy surprise which was increased by the shower of flowers, dainty handkerchiefs and other thoughtful gifts, and later by the appearance of the second birthday cake and the enjoyable ices and coffee served by the two daughters-in-law, Mrs. William Spurgeon and Mrs. Robert Spurgeon.

The anniversary dinner was enjoyed by the hostess and honoree, Mrs. Spurgeon sr., Mr. and Mrs. William Spurgeon Jr., Miss Sherrill Spurgeon and young "Bill" Spurgeon III, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spurgeon and Robert Jr.

Joining the family group for the happy evening were Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert, Mrs. Maria Hill, Mrs. J. McConnell, Mrs. Mattie Wiseman, Mrs. Alice Turner and Mrs. Susan A. Sweet.

The title of "Mother of Santa Ana" is unanimously bestowed on Mrs. Spurgeon since she and her husband, the late William H. Spurgeon, were founders of the city, choosing the site amidst the famous patches of mustard, early visitors of the beautiful city of homes which Santa Ana has become.

LETTERS FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

I cannot let you leave, dear Syd, for a long stay away from us without telling you what you have been to me ever since I have known you—I suppose I should have been very conventional and said, "what you have been to Jack and me"—but I don't want to do anything of this sort. I want this letter to be only between thee and me, my friend.

Sydney, you have shown me what loyalty is, a truth are. Without your showing this, sometimes I think I would have lost myself somewhere in the slough of doubt. And you have given me a feeling that your sympathy and understanding were boundless. No one, not even Ruth Burke, has understood me as you have. I shall miss you more than I can tell.

Please do not go out of my life altogether. Of course, you could never go out of my memory, but I want you as a live friend and not just a memory.

Write me occasionally—only when you feel like it, for I hate to feel I must write anyway and I expect you do also. I don't want the thought, "now I must write to Leslie," to weigh upon your spirit. But, if the time ever comes when you say to yourself, "it would be a pleasure to me to sit down and talk to Leslie a little," then, dear Sydney, write to me.

But whether you write or not, whether we hear from each other or not, I want you to take with you the knowledge that Jack and I have settled down into the prosaic life of the six-years-married.

As such we are contented always and sometimes happy. Indeed I am very happy with my two beautiful boys. I think they are really more to me than they are to Jack—both of them—and that is saying a great deal.

Take my blessing with you to that far land to which you are going. And I want that word "blessing" to have the sacred meaning that it had among the ancient Jews.

You have done much for me Sydney, and much for Jack. You have said to him things that I could not say, which showed him the way to make me happier than he had ever done before, because you made him think of someone besides himself.

When you return, both Jack and I will welcome you with open arms. If we are still on earth with arms to open—and now, not the conventional "bon voyage," but the hearty "safe return to those who love you," including,

LESLIE PRESCOTT.

Is this your BIRTHDAY

SATURDAY, JAN. 23

If so you will meet people easily and your contacts with them will be agreeable.

You are not inclined to rush into anything hastily, and will not exert yourself too much to obtain anything.

Financially you will never be a genius. Your income will be sufficient for a happy life, but you will never become wealthy through your own efforts.

You will marry after you have grown past your youth and your married life will be peaceful and happy.

ADVENTURES A of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I'd rather pick up a nice piece of cheese," said a large fat rat to his neighbor, but Sniff Whisker didn't hear.

"ALL ABOARD for the drain," shouted the Gingerbread Man tooting the whistle on the Hidy Go Land Express.

"Till walk," said the gobbler. "Till go ahead and show you the way."

"And we'll walk, too," said Sniff Whisker to his policeman. "We may be able to see footprints and pick up some evidence."

"I'd rather pick up a nice piece of cheese," said a large fat rat to his neighbor, but Sniff Whisker didn't hear.

Limber Long Legs helped Calamity Jane, the Tin Soldier assisted Miss Tootsie Bobb, Teddy Bear gave Belinda his arm and poor, fat Mrs. Jiggs and Black Dinah had to have three people to help them.

As for Miss Crinoline, she chose to ride in the coal car. "It gets there first," she explained, "and as it's my party, I don't want to lose a minute. I do hope the Rag Doll had taken good care of my skirt and not let it get all drabbed in an old drain. What do you suppose anyone would want to go to a drain for? Ugh!"

"Toot! Toot! Toot!" went the Gingerbread Man.

Poor Mister Havalook and the Twins got into the caboose and away they went over a very rough road, leaving Tin Can Town far behind. They passed Ash Can Ville and Rubbish Mountain and everyone looked at the scenery.

Nancy and Nick were interested, for, as Nancy said—now she knew where things went to, that disappeared from one's house and never were seen again. Of course they came to Hidy Go Land. And it was not such an ugly place as one might suppose. For, in the rubbish heap there were lovely china dishes, broken of course, but with beautiful things painted on. The dolls wanted to stop but the engineer said it was not a regular stop or not even a flag station, so on he went.

"Everybody stay out," said Sniff Whisker. "I and my men will go bravely into the drain and bring out the culprit. We're used to drains and we know the ins and outs. Ready, one, two, three, four—go!"

But just at that second there was a scream from the drain and out rushed the Rag Doll herself. "Oh, oh, oh! Save me!" she cried. "There is a terrible monster after me! Oh there he is!"

Everybody expected to see, well, at least a dragon or something like that. But out came a nice, friendly, black water-bug with eyes sticking out like blackberries.

"She's trying to get our sympathy," said the Crinoline Doll severely. "Where's my skirt? Where did you hide it?"

"Your skirt?" said the Rag Doll. "I didn't see it since I left it hanging on the wash-line."

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, creamed salt codfish on toast, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Lima bean soup, croutons, jellied tomato salad, bran bread, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled fish, egg sauce, plain boiled potatoes, buttered beans, carrot salad, lemon soufflé, rolled oats bread, milk, coffee. Lemon juice or vinegar added to the water in which fish is boiled keeps the flesh white and has no effect on the flavor. One tablespoonful of either lemon or vinegar to one quart of water should be used. Remember not to let the water boil vigorously while cooking the fish. Gentle simmering insures a tender, firm finished product.

Lima Bean Soup
One cup dried lima beans, five cups cold water, 1 medium-sized onion, 4 tablespoons minced carrot, 1½ cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 spoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Pick over and wash beans. Cover with cold water and let stand three or four hours. Drain and parboil in water to cover containing soda. Throw away soda water, rinse beans well. Put into kettle with water, thinly sliced onion and carrot and cook until beans are tender. Rub through a sieve and reheat in milk with salt, butter, sugar and pepper. The sugar can be added to the beans while cooking if preferred. Do not let the soup boil after adding milk.

Cynthia Gray

Overhears a Brave Business Man take a heavy fall out of that old idea that the only Cooking worth while is "Like Mother Used to Make."

THEY were eating chicken and dumplings at the table across from mine, four of them, business men out for lunch.

"I'll say this is some cooking!" exploded one through a jawful of dumpling. "Just like mother used to make!"

"I'll tell the world!" chorused the others, all but one. Then up spoke brave Horatius. He had been still. We had listened longer, we changed it to "brave man."

"Rubbish!" he said, "if they tasted like the dumplings mother used to make, I'm here to tell the world I wouldn't be eating them!"

"That expression is just a sample of the rubbish we talk when we don't mean a word of it. I bet my mother was just as good a cook as any of yours, but I wouldn't trot over town to find a restaurant specializing in her kind of cooking, and if you stopped to think and really remember, you wouldn't, either!"

Very Brave

The very brave man viciously jabbed another dumpling while his colleagues surveyed him in scared, awed silence.

"I'm the last guy in the world who wants to spoil any of our mothers' glory. God knows they had a hard enough time of it, what with lugging water from a cistern in the back yard, carrying garbage to the pigs, hauling up potatoes and canned fruit from a smelly, dark hole in the ground called a cellar, cooking over a scorching cookstove fire that they built themselves.

"But, granted that they did a good job with what they had to do with and the conditions under which they worked, why not admit that they didn't feed their families right, that home was neither particularly clean nor beautiful?"

Fried Potatoes

"Six times a week we had fried potatoes for supper, and I bet you did too. They weren't fried in any of these new greasless oils, either, but in bacon drippings, and mother would 'wipe out' the spider with a hunk of pork fat.

"Then we generally had beans, and they weren't baked right because those old cook stoves couldn't do the trick, and they didn't have papers then with women's pages full of tips on how to soak and parboil beans.

"If it wasn't beans, we had sauerkraut and fat pork. Hot biscuit and hot apple pie with a huge slab of cheese.

"And in the center of the table would be little glasses with dabs of mustard and pickle, and chili sauce and horseradish and a left-over pickle or two. These things never left the table. Day and night they soaked up all the microbes in sight.

"Never a sprig of green stuff, no lettuce or parsley on the platters, no fresh vegetables or fruits. Why, folks who bought lettuce and tomatoes in January were classed as 'extravagant ne'er-do-wells.'

"No oranges or grapefruit for breakfast—just shriveled old prunes or maybe applesauce made from dried apples.

"The tablecloth was always spotted—folks didn't stress the necessity of an appetizing table in those days. Besides, most of the eaters did manual labor and didn't need to have their appetites especially pampered.

"We didn't live such strenuous lives. We didn't need the table coddling that we need now."

"Mother had two tablecloths, one for Sunday, one for week days. She left the week day one on two weeks because of her heavy laundries. If spots ever bothered her, she lost her quails after serving hired men one meal.

"No, don't talk to me about 'how mother used to make' and 'how mother used to do.' I can live now on my $50 a week the way only our town banker lived with all his

Our business for the past 33 years has been confined to borrowing money and loaning money and during this period we have not lost a dollar by making poor loans. We make only monthly payment loans and our clients find this method a practical and convenient way to reduce their indebtedness by small installments until the loan is finally wiped out. Several payments are offered so you can pay more each month and thus get out of debt sooner. If you have never had a monthly payment loan you will like our plan, particularly so if your income is regular.

WEST COAST-WALKER.

One of the finest pictures it has been your pleasure to see will be presented for five days beginning tomorrow at the West Coast-Walker theater on the special anniversary program. It is entitled "The Merry Widow." The production shows Mae Murray and John Gilbert as co-stars, doing the best work of their varied and brilliant careers. Erich von Stroheim whose directorial genius immortalized "Foolish Wives" has fulfilled a similar function with "The Merry Widow."

The story is replete with surprises and moves at a pace that keeps the spectator enthralled during every moment of its unfoldment. It tells the story of an adventuresome young prince and a vivacious Irish-American dancer. It is brimful with surprises and thrills, and its climax leads to one another with refreshing swiftness as a series of beautiful tableaux mark the progress of the plot. Though the mood of the picture is dramatic, a delicate vein of humor appears throughout which serves to heighten and at the same time relieve the tenseness of the picture.

On the stage is the latest West Coast presentation, "Syncopation," produced by Fanchon and Marco. It is heralded as one of the snappiest and most entertaining novelties produced by this team to date. The title "Syncopation" tells the story. With the famous sixteen California Flashes, Crosby and Rinker, Bobbie Thompson, the Chinese Trio and Little Jimmie Clark, West Coast Theaters have an array of artists which cannot be surpassed in their respective lines. Each one has his particular interpretation of "Syncopation" in song and dance numbers and embraces every phase from jazz to Charleston. The musical scores and dance numbers have been selected with this view and the entire act including settings and costumes is a dazzling number which will make the most depressed feel it is a gay and carefree old world after all.

Completing the screen entertainment is a good comedy and other film novelties.

YOST THEATER

A powerful society melodrama packed full of thrills and laughs galore is "The New Commandment," the production coming to the Yost theater tonight for a two-day engagement.

It is a Robert T. Kane picture, his initial production under his own banner. As a result no expense or effort has been spared in its making.

"The New Commandment" is a screen adaptation of Colonel Frederick Palmer's novel, "Invisible Wounds." Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin is also responsible for the direction of "The New Commandment" and he is assured of new honors for his great results in this picture.

Ben Lyon and Blanche Sweet in a scene from "The New Commandment," picture showing Sunday and Monday at the Yost theater.

The cast includes Ben Lyon, Blanche Sweet, Holbrook Blinn, Diana Kane, Pedro de Cordova, Effie Shannon, George Cooper and many others well known to movie fans. Thrills galore are provided in "The New Commandment" as well as laughs and tense situations. As for romance, the great love scenes between Blanche Sweet and Ben Lyon are the last words in it.

Connell's Comedians, formerly of the Temple theater, will play the comedy-drama, "The Old Soak," a New York production that once established a world record for the length of its engagement on Broadway.

IMPROVEMENTS IN CHEVROLET MADE

Many mechanical improvements, in the face of price reductions, were displayed on the new Chevrolet cars at the New York automobile show, according to B. J. MacMullen, local dealer.

"The numerous mechanical improvements, together with lower prices, coming at this time when high tire costs threaten advanced car prices, concentrated attention on the Chevrolet exhibit," said the agent.

"At the time reduced prices were announced, no mention was made of improvements to the car. These mechanical changes are designed to give even smoother operation, greater engine efficiency and smoother riding. One of the features is an air cleaner, something which only cars of much higher price have been equipped with heretofore.

"Among the new improvements are lighter pistons and pins; engine lubricating system of increased efficiency; special three-point motor suspension and redesigned motor head with larger cooling area around the valves, all of which contribute materially toward smooth operation. The new car is well cushioned by long semi-elliptic springs of special design.

"The new piston assembly is about a half pound lighter, decreasing by approximately two pounds the total weight of moving parts in the cylinders. The piston is of the skeleton type, combining lightness with ample strength and large bearing surface."

HOLD LAST RITES
FOR FRANK HANNA

Funeral service were held this afternoon, at the Winbiger funeral establishment, for Frank Hanna, 84, cousin of Mark Hanna, political dictator of a score of years ago. The body will be cremated, according to Hanna's son, L. C. Hanna, 7031 Converse street, Los Angeles.

Mr. Hanna was born near Niles, Columbiana county, Ohio, and served with the 162nd regiment of infantry, Ohio volunteers, in the Civil war. He later was transferred to the railroad division.

He was identified with early railroad and mining activities in the Pacific northwest and was for 30 years a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Mr. Hanna had lived in Santa Ana for approximately 20 years. His wife died several years ago. During the influenza epidemic of several years ago, Mr. Hanna gave very valuable service in nursing in homes where a professional nurse could not be obtained. At one time, he walked a mile alone, at night, to give assistance to a family, every member of which had been stricken, it was said.

WEST END THEATER

Julian Eltinge, the world's most famous woman impersonator and for twenty years past a reigning stage success, says he is delighted with his role in "Madam Behave," in which he is featured with Ann Pennington, the celebrated Follies dancer, and which will be on view at the West End theater tonight for a week's run.

"I like this comedy," said Eltinge in a recent interview. "In fact, I revel in my role because it gets away from the endless gown display that I've carried on my back for years on the stage. You see, in the film, practically all the action takes place the same day, and the comedy comes so thick and fast there's no time to stop and change one's clothes."

"What a relief! Once I'm in skirts and the plot is under way, the action never stops. I'm climbing trees, being wooed (when acting as the supposed missing woman witness) by Lionel Belmore and Jack Duffy, and at the same time trying to keep my identity from Ann Pennington while I'm in skirts. And, also, I'm doing my best to get out of my skirts and into my trousers so I can make love to her. That's how busy I am in the picture. It's great, and packed with laughs."

Millions who have seen and admired Julian Eltinge on the stage during his twenty years of success at depicting women, probably associate him with gowns and lingerie. But the folks who know Eltinge in real life know him as a hale and hearty fellow, knowing all the fads and foibles of the fair sex, but having nothing offensive about himself at all. He looks like a prosperous young business man off stage, and is highly popular everywhere."

YOST THEATER

The United States liner Leviathan, largest steamship in the world, forms the background of many important scenes in Thomas Meighan's new picture, "Irish Luck," which closes at the Yost theater tonight. The Meighan company made both East and Westbound voyages on the Leviathan, en route to Ireland for location scenes.

The action of the picture called for several sequences to be shot at sea, showing Meighan, as a New York traffic cop on holiday, getting acquainted with life on shipboard, playing deck games, and falling into the clutches of a pair of confidence workers.

Several hundred of the Leviathan's passengers volunteered as extras, and Captain Herbert Hartley, the foremost skipper in the United States merchant marine appeared with the Paramount star in several scenes.

One interesting scene shows the Leviathan steaming slowly up New York harbor past the statue of liberty, while others show the vessel ploughing the waters of the mid-Atlantic.

Lois Wilson is featured as the cast of "Irish Luck." "Irish Luck" finds the "good luck" star in a dual role—the finest portrayal of his screen career. Five acts of vaudeville, including "The Rising Generation," also are on the Yost program.

Come, see and hear the world famous Evangelist PAUL RADER at the Four Square Tabernacle, corner Fairview and Sycamore. Supported by Angeles Temple. Silver band of 40 pieces.

U. S. CHAMBER OFFICIAL IS GREATLY IMPRESSED WITH POSSIBILITIES OF HARBOR

Declaring the work of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce to be cut out for it, in the advancement of the program for an Orange county harbor, Colvin Brown, chief of the organization bureau of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, last night left an indelible impression on the minds of more than 200 persons, representatives of every section of the county, who attended the fourth annual meeting of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, in Costa Mesa.

Brown, who was taken on a trip over Newport bay early yesterday morning, declared that he saw great possibilities in the development of the bay. He pointed out that the duty of every chamber of commerce is to work for the development of things which will make their communities bigger, better and stronger. The work of the chambers of commerce of the harbor district, according to Brown, is the effort to put over the bond issue here April 7.

Evidence that he was greatly impressed by the natural bay at Newport was expressed by Brown when he declared that industries would come as soon as the harbor was started.

"Where Rail Meets Water"

"One of the most important accomplishments of any section is the development of a place where rail meets water," Brown declared, in lauding the efforts of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce. The development of industries in the harbor communities was advised as the most feasible course for the chambers of commerce of the district to work upon. Brown declared that nearly all manufacturing towns had received their start from local persons, who have started industries on a small scale. An industry, once established, does not move from one town to another, and a free site for a factory will not bring a factory into your town if the directors do not think it will pay dividends, Brown declared.

A tribute to Orange county and Southern California was paid by Brown, in a statement to the effect that a more wonderful country than found in the world. Brown declared that he had been in almost every corner of the earth and had yet to see a more attractive spot.

The meeting, last night, was one of the most successful and largely attended meetings ever to be held. Boosts for Orange county's harbor were given by almost every community. Ten men, directors of the Brea Harbor club, were introduced at the meeting. Dr. C. G. Huston, retiring president of the board of directors of the harbor chamber of commerce, opened the meeting. Huston paid tribute to Harry Welch, secretary-manager of the harbor chamber. Welch was ill and could not attend the meeting. A picture of industries and pay rolls was painted by Huston, along with the successful consummation of the harbor program.

"Heavy Work Coming"

"We have accomplished many things during the last three years and now the heavy work is coming," Huston declared. "From tonight, let's not rest till the harbor is won," was the message sent to the meeting by Harry Welch. J. A. Armitage, secretary of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce, read the letter from Welch.

George Peabody, newly elected president of the board of directors of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, declared that the new directors had a big job ahead. Peabody also paid tribute to the work of Harry Welch and complimented the work of Dr. Huston during his three years as president of the harbor group.

Huston reported on the accomplishments of the organization during the last year. His report dealt with roads and transportation matters fostered by the organization. S. A. Meyer's report showed that during the year the harbor chamber of commerce had secured more than 400 columns of publicity in more than 300 newspapers.

An orchestra played during the dinner, which was served by the women of the Costa Mesa Friday Afternoon Women's club. Robert L. Brown, Santa Ana soloist, sang a number of selections. Brown was accompanied by Miss Armstrong at the piano.

VIC FOLEY WINS.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 23.—Vic Foley of Vancouver, B. C., claimant to the bantamweight championship of Canada, won a ten round decision over Georgie Lee, local Chinese boxer, here last night. Foley shook the Chinaman with hard punches several times during the closing rounds, but was unable to put over a knockout.

Gen. J. Warren Keifer, who was speaker of the U. S. house of representatives in the 47th congress, is soon to celebrate his 90th birthday anniversary at his home in Springfield, O.

REASONS FOR CHILD CRIME ARE OUTLINED

The breaking up of the American home, with its resultant crop of abandoned or neglected children, was declared by C. N. Mozley, chief deputy district attorney of Orange county, at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Knights of the Round Table, to be one of the underlying causes of juvenile delinquency.

In introducing Mozley as the speaker of the day, Attorney Clyde C. Downing, president of the Knights of the Round Table, referred to the prosecutor as a distinguished lawyer and noted criminologist. He added that, although Mozley has established a reputation for keenness and efficiency, his high conception of duty would never permit him to depart from the path of fairness of honorable practice.

Praising Work of Knights Embarking upon the subject of his talk, Mozley took occasion to voice his hearty approval of the objective selected by the Knights of the Round Table as their major activity—that of befriending neglected and abandoned children. He doubted whether any service organization could undertake a more worthy undertaking.

The battle against the devastating effects of neglected childhood is one of the greatest problems, if not the greatest which is facing America today, declared the speaker, and one which should have the immediate and earnest attention of every civic-minded patriotic citizen.

Orange county has made a splendid beginning in this fight to save its boys and girls, and its citizens should push forward, he continued. In this connection, Mozley paid glowing tribute to the work of R. R. Miller, former chief probation officer of Orange county, who more than anything else was "a big brother" to the lads placed in his charge.

Proud of Juvenile Home Speaking further, he said that Orange county is proud of its juvenile home and related facilities for the care of delinquent children. In order that the citizens may become better acquainted with the complex problems confronting the authorities, he suggested that the citizens make a point of visiting the home.

Stressing the imperative need of juvenile protection, the prosecutor asserted that, not only the welfare of the American people, but the very security of the U. S. government and its institutions depended upon the type of youth we are sending into the ranks of society.

Coupled with this observation, he added that the work of juvenile welfare should begin before the wayward or neglected child has drifted into the juvenile court. Along with this thought, he expressed the hope that before long society would find it advisable to establish child welfare institutions, operated at public expense, where the under-privileged, abandoned, or neglected child would have a fair chance to receive an education amidst wholesome environments.

Sencio Refused Second Contest With La Barba

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Clever Sencio and his retinue of handlers departed from Los Angeles today frowning because the Filipino was refused a re-match with Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion. George Blake, the little champion's manager, refused to sign at this time for a bout in either February or July as had been projected. "Fidel's eye needs medical attention, and he is going to the hospital for a tonsil operation," Blake said. "Sencio can have his chance at the title, but I want my boy to be at his best, and it will be weeks before he will be ready to enter a gymnasium again."

National Yule Tree Proposed

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—General Grant tree, in General Grant National park, in Tulare county may be dedicated as a national Christmas tree in 1926, if the suggestion of San Joaquin valley civic leaders is followed. The giant redwood is 260 feet high and measures 35 3-4 feet in diameter near the ground. Many millions of persons in the United States "tune in" for the dedicatory exercises, which would be broadcast by radio, the sponsors of the plan say in a letter to M. D. Pratt, state forester.

SEEK MEMBERS FOR CHAMBER AT LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Jan. 23.—Starting at 9 o'clock next Tuesday morning and continuing for three days, a drive will be conducted for the purpose of adding to the membership of the La Habra Chamber of Commerce as many as possible of the citizens of the community.

For the purposes of active work, two sides have been created, representing the east and west sides of the city, with Hiatt street as the dividing line. E. D. Pellerin is captain of the East Siders, and L. J. Wester is captain of the West Siders. Each side will have six workers who during the three days of the drive, will make a systematic canvass of the entire city and surrounding territory, and make it a point to see that every citizen not only is invited, but urged to become a member of the civic body.

A supply of membership buttons, in two colors, has been secured, and each man signed up by the workers will be given one of these markers of his affiliation with the forces of progress.

Ace Hudkins Wins Nod Over Schaefer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—Ace Hudkins, "Nebraska Wildcat," evened up an old score when he received the referee's decision over Frank's Schaefer, Chicago, after ten rounds of fast and sometimes furious milling. They are lightweights. Hudkins fought his usual slashing, almost careless, battle, but in Schaefer he met a man after his own heart. Schaefer met Hudkins' rallies and flurries of his own and received an ovation for his gameness.

Pay Your Bills on the Minute and You'll Never Miss Credit

Credit is a convenience—a courtesy extended to you so long as you pay your bills promptly.

But—always remember this. A store does not have to give you credit and, usually, will not give you credit if you delay and do not pay bills when they are due. The persons from whom you buy have their own bills to pay; it is not right for you to expect them to "carry" your bills.

Pay bills promptly—and you'll find credit a convenience. Establish a reputation as a last minute bill payer and credit soon will pass you by.

OIL SUBSTITUTE PRACTICES TO BE CHECKED IN ORANGE COUNTY

Secretary of Protective Bureau Arranging Here For Station Inspection

NELSON PROMISES AID FROM OFFICE

Many Dealers Throughout California Prosecuted For Illegal Operation

A drive in Orange county against substitution of motor oils by retailers of lubricants is in the offing, according to C. L. Whitehead, secretary of the Consumer's Protective bureau, who was here arranging preliminary details for calling inspectors into the county to check up on the retailers.

A. P. Nelson, district attorney, has promised full co-operation of his office in prosecution of violators of the county ordinance and the state law, requiring that oil containers be labeled with the brand of oil in the container.

Pointing out that the last legislature added section 353a to the penal code, providing for labeling of oil drums, Whitehead said the object was "to discourage unscrupulous service station men from giving a customer a brand of oil different from that called for."

"Quite a number of dealers have been prosecuted in the state and have been heavily fined for substituting oils," Whitehead continued. "Virtually all judges before whom offenders have been brought have stated, in imposing sentence, that substitutors thereafter brought before them and convicted would be given jail sentences without suspension of sentence."

"Recently, in Fresno, 12 operators of service stations were arrested for violating the law and will be tried in the early part of February."

"Automobiles of bureau inspectors are equipped with by-passes. When oil is poured into the spout, it goes into a sample can below, instead of into the crank case. A careful check will be made of service stations and garages in this community and all guilty parties will be brought to justice."

"If motorists would develop the habit of asking for oil by its brand name, it would materially aid those who are attempting to stamp out substitution. Many persons drive into a station and ask merely for an eastern or western oil. This is a very indefinite description, as the word eastern, for instance, would describe any oil produced one mile east of the station, and for this reason a prosecution cannot be sustained."

TWO AVIATORS ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING CITY ORDINANCE IN NEW STAR ADVERTISING STUNT

Look this car over—it is the Durant Motor company's new Star six cylinder coach, shown here this week for the first time by the Santa Ana Star Motor Sales company, 600 West Fourth street. Flying above the car is the airplane, from which B. E. Morthland, manager of the local company, and Johnnie Martin, star salesman with the Santa Ana company, distributed advertising literature, an act which resulted in the arrest of Morthland on a charge of violating a city ordinance, prohibiting the distribution of such literature. Morthland (left) directs attention of Horace Fine, automobile editor of the Register, to the sign on the bottom of the plane. The picture was "shot" at Eddie Martin's airport, at the foot of South Main street, by Leo Tiede.

City Ordinance Violated When Flyers Dropped Literature

The display and advertising here, this week, of the new six cylinder Star coach, by the Santa Ana Motor Sales company, 600 West Fourth street, resulted in the arrest of two aviators for violation of a city ordinance.

B. E. Morthland, manager of the company, and Johnnie Martin, brother of Eddie Martin, Santa Ana aviator, were haled into the city recorder's court and Morthland was fined $10 for distributing advertising literature, in violation of a city ordinance.

Johnnie Martin, star salesman with the automobile company, also is a plane pilot, and he took Morthland into the air for the purpose of dropping, from the plane, literature advertising the opening display of the new Star six.

C. V. Adams, member of the Santa Ana police force, spied the aviators in their advertising stunt and, while the pieces of literature were flitting through the air, made out a report to the police department, asserting the "capture" of the offenders at the corner of Fourth and Birch streets, for it was at that point that the policeman made his observation. A complaint later was sworn to by Sid Smithwick, assistant police chief, and the warrant was served by Smithwick. After stating to the court that he had no knowledge of the existence of the local ordinance, and assuming responsibility for the stunt, Morthland pleaded guilty and paid the fine imposed. Martin was dismissed.

Embracing four models—touring, coupe, coach and sedan—the new Star six line comes onto the most competitive market the world ever has known, according to Morthland. The local agency expects to have the touring, coupe and sedan models for display here within two or three weeks, as production is being rushed in order to make all models of the new line available to agents as quickly as possible.

"Unveiled for the first time in December to a group of 200 Star car dealers, in convention with factory officials in Oakland, Calif., the line brought about an ovation from every individual present," Morthland said. "It recalled the introduction of 'achievement cars' in past automotive history by W. C. Durant—in 1908, the famous Buick 'White Streak' at $850; in 1914, the famous Chevrolet '490' at $490; and in 1922, the now famous Star four—then this new six, the lowest priced six cylinder car in the world, at $895 delivered at Pacific coast points."

"The characteristic Star radiator, although larger, is retained and this, due to longer, lower lines, greatly adds to the beauty of the new car. Each model is finished in rich Japanese blue lacquer."

"In the touring model, headed line, running the complete length of the body, adds to the general streamlining effect, and like the enclosed models, the windshield is one-piece. In the closed models, this effect is heightened by a built-in sun visor, that curves downward. The general tendency toward lower, hung appearance of the entire car is helped by a drop in the front axle and drop frame, both contributing greater strength to the entire chassis."

The Star six is being added to the already popular Star line of four cylinder cars, making an unusually complete line of fours and sixes at a low price range.

"The new cars are equipped with Bendix four wheel brakes, which make their appearance for the first time in a car of the low cost class; a new Continental L-head motor, of the high speed type, which is said to develop 40 horsepower at 2400 r. p. m., and which has a bore of 3 3/4 inches and stroke of 4 3/4 inches, designed to give the highest range of flexibility and economy. The actual rated horsepower is 18.15. The motor has full force feed lubrication, pumping oil to main, connecting rod and camshaft bearings, and the Morse front end gear chain."

"The entire spring suspension is nearly as great as the wheelbase of the car, 107 inches. Better riding qualities also are insured by balloon tires, 30x4.95 in size. Factory engineers declare that the mechanical features of the car are more accessible than construction has ever before permitted."

"The prices of the new six are expected to create a sensation throughout the motor trade and the motoring public as well. Because of its long period of development, the Star six has afforded engineers an opportunity for the greatest effort in efficiency of manufacture."

SCHOOL PUPILS WILL ENGAGE IN ESSAY CONTEST

Solution of Traffic Problem to Be Discussed in $6500 Prize Writings

Planning the solution of the traffic problem a generation ahead is the policy of the Highway Education board, according to a statement announcing the fifth national safety campaign, open to all elementary schools of the country.

The campaign includes an essay contest for pupils and a lesson contest in which teachers in elementary schools are to compete. In these contests $6500 is given for the best essays and the best lessons, the prizes the gifts of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which co-operates with the board in its highway safety enterprises. The contests close February 24, of this year.

Certificates of Merit

In addition, engraved certificates of merit will be given those schools in each state which comply with certain requirements of the highway organization in the teaching of safety education. These certificates bear the signature of Dr. J. J. Tigert, U. S. commissioner of education, department of the interior, and of the state superintendent of schools, or the principal school official. Dr. Tigert also is chairman of the Highway Education board.

The contest is being announced to the schools of the country. Pupils are requested to write essays of 500 words in length on the subject "My School's Share in Highway Safety." Four hundred thirty-eight medals and as many cash prizes will be given for the best essays in the several states, while three national awards will be given for the premier essays that are written by the pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in school. The first national prize consists of a gold watch and a trip to Washington, with all expenses paid, the winning pupil being under the care of board officials.

Awards By States

In each state, a gold medal and a check for $15 will be given for the best essay, and a silver medal and a $10 check for the second best paper. The number of third prizes, each consisting of a bronze medal and $5 varies somewhat in proportion to the elementary school enrollment. New York states, for example, receives 37 state prizes, while the number for Alabama is nine, for California, 13; Texas, 19; Illinois, 20, and other states in proportion.

In the teacher's contest, three national prizes are given, amounting to $1500, but the first consists of a check for $500 and a trip to Washington for the best lesson. The second and third prizes respectively are $300 and $200.

$100 IS CUT FROM STUDEBAKER PRICE

Price reductions of $100 on the enclosed models of the Studebaker line will save millions of dollars to purchasers of these cars, Harry D. Riley, county distributor, declared here today. Announcement of the lower prices has had the effect of further increasing interest in the line here, Riley said.

"The one-profit policy of the company and the more than $100,000,000 assets of the company, coupled with volume production made the new low prices possible," Riley commented in pointing out that in 1925 Studebaker produced 138,000 more cars than in 1924, an increase of 23 per cent.

Continuing, Riley said that the one-profit policy of the company was made possible by the fact that it builds its own bodies and all the vital parts of the car in its own plant, eliminating the profit of outside makers of bodies and parts.

"Although its price is reduced, there is absolutely no reduction in quality," the agent said. "Studebaker will not sacrifice quality. The new prices are on the identical cars that Studebaker has been offering ever since it adopted its no-yearly-model policy."

Orange County Automobile Men To Throw Party

The Orange County Auto Trades association in the near future will celebrate a substantial increase in membership by having a "stag party" at a place and on a date to be named by a special committee appointed to arrange the details.

According to announcement by W. G. McConnell, president, the committee which will arrange for the party is composed of M. S. Robinson, chairman; Jack Gledhill, Major Anderson, H. M. Kinslow and Ben Warner.

It has been some years since the organization has had a "party" and the committee has been instructed to arrange for a program of good, clean entertainment.

10 Rules Given For Tire Conservation

Are you getting your money's worth out of your tires? If not, then observe these suggestions:

1—See that front wheels always are in perfect alignment, that is, with quarter-inch toe-in in front. Test with a string, or tape, between felloe centers at front and rear of front wheels, respectively.

2—Examine tires carefully at least once a week.

3—Keep them properly inflated, and avoid over-inflation, especially in hot weather.

4—Avoid all rough spots in the road. This saves machinery as well as tires.

5—Change front tires to rear wheels, and vice versa, occasionally.

6—Avoid sliding the wheels, and skidding, by having brakes adjusted properly.

7—Use chains, but only when necessary, as they cut the tires.

8—See that the steering mechanism always is in good order.

9—Have cuts in tires attended to at once.

10—Protect the spare tire with a cover.

LOCATION FOR ROAD AT DEL MAR SELECTED

After hearing a number of delegations of residents and property owners favoring various routes, the California highway commission has adopted a final location for the state highway through the town of Del Mar, San Diego county. The route selected was recommended by State Highway Engineer R. M. Morton.

It was announced at the offices of the commission in Los Angeles. The new location will leave the present highway about one-half mile east of Stratford Inn and will cross the Santa Fe railroad on an overhead structure, continuing on a direct line through the town east of the hotel. This will eliminate the existing dangerous grade crossing at this point and also a number of right angle kinks in the highway.

Commissioner Nelson T. Edwards announced that the project would be placed on the 1926 reconstruction program of the commission, and that the state highway engineer would proceed at once with plans for the overhead crossing and the grading. Widening of the old highway both north and south of Del Mar already has been completed.

The crossing is considered one of the most dangerous between Los Angeles and San Diego. The highway at this point carries a heavy traffic.

Time Near End For Renewal of Auto Licenses

Although but seven days remain until they will be required to pay a double fee, only a little more than one-half of the motorists of California have made application for their 1926 license plates, the division of motor vehicles announces.

These means, officials said, that nearly 700,000 motor vehicles must be registered within the next week if their owners would avoid paying the 100 per cent penalty as the license renewal period expires on January 30.

This laxness on the part of the motorists, in the opinion of Chief Will H. Marsh, is due to the fact that they are accustomed to renewing licenses in February. The new law moved the period back a month.

Motorists who have already mailed in their applications, but have not received their plates, have nothing to worry about, Marsh said, as from 10 days to two weeks is necessary to complete the transaction.

Car Runs Five Miles Without Gasoline Tank

Walter Tantlinger, past president of Calumet camp No. 26, United Spanish War Veterans, has a Hudson car of old vintage that will run for miles without gasoline, according to declarations by friends who accompanied him recently on a trip to Riverside, where he went to install officers in the camp there.

According to alleged facts related by members of the party, the gas tank of the automobile dropped off while the party was motoring through the Santa Ana canyon, and according to the same authority, the car continued up the canyon five miles after the tank was lost.

Opinion was decidedly to the effect that the long mileage without gas was made on the reputation of the past commander, for it was said he is one of the most popular members of the local camp.

BUSINESS HOUR SCHEDULE FOR GAS STATIONS DECIDED UPON

Orange County Independent Dealers Elect Officers At Garden Grove Session

ROY SILKWOOD IS NAMED PRESIDENT

Object of Organization Is To Eliminate Increasing Detrimental Practices

Completing organization by the adoption of by-laws and election of permanent officers, the Orange County Service Station association, composed of between 100 and 150 service station owners in the county, today had made effective a regulated schedule of opening and closing of the places of business of members.

Under the by-laws, owners will open their stations at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m., except Saturday nights, holidays and the night preceding a holiday, when the closing hour will be 10 p. m.

The association has been in process of formation for a number of months, operation being under temporary officers. Interest of station owners in the movement for early closing hours and for elimination of practices that have been detrimental to the business of retailing gasoline and oils, has increased from month to month, with the result that a substantial number of owners have become identified with the organization.

The by-laws were adopted at a meeting, Thursday night, in the Garden Grove hotel, when the following officers assumed their respective offices: Roy Silkwood, Santa Ana, president; G. B. Rosebrook, Anaheim, vice president; L. E. LeClair, Anaheim, secretary and business manager; B. E. Crawford, Anaheim, financial secretary; Roy Ballard, Santa Ana, sergeant-at-arms; William Spurber, Anaheim, William Jones, Santa Ana, Roy Bales, Santa Ana, T. D. Boon, Huntington Beach, and C. D. Barger, Orange, directors.

Representatives of the Southern California Independent Dealers' association, the association at national secretary, Roy Ballard, Credit association, was present and addressed the meeting.

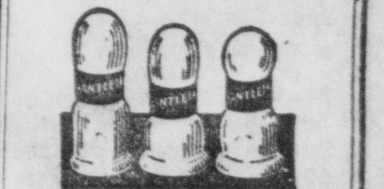

According to a member, the association already has been effective in bringing the station owners into closer social and business relations.

Gets Paid for Mosquito Bite

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Bitten on the tongue by a mosquito while he was on duty as a cowboy at Newman, William Miller was awarded expenses and disability payment by the state industrial accident commission here. Miller told the commission that the territory into which the Simon-Newman company sent him was infested with mosquitoes and that he suffered blood poisoning from the bite. He was awarded $230.13 damages, $12.23 weekly during his hospital and $1957.51 for hospital and medical expenses.

"KERNELS" BY THE COLONEL

A man telephoned the sheriff's office the other night. A thief had stolen a number of chickens from his coop, he said. The officer who answered the call, apparently absently, stopped every coupe he saw for an hour. Lots of lost chickens were found, but not this particular brand.

Does prohibition pay? That's a question that is asked here every day. For the benefit of those who want to know, we suggest they take a peep at the amount of fines collected in booze cases in Orange county in 1925. What better answer?

In a case in superior court here the other day over automobile tires, payment for same and so on, the defendant claimed the bill was inflated, but that the tires would not inflate. Looks like some high pressure was used somewhere, or the thing wouldn't have been in court, eh?

And then there is the dumb-bell who read in the Register: "J. C. TO BANQUET TO-NIGHT." and then looked up and said: "What's the idea of honoring Julius Caesar in this country?"

The Earl of Westminster Abbey, (also known as Anaheim Abbey) writes in that in his opinion, the Chamber of Commerce to a city is the same thing as an inner tube to an automobile. One is useless without the other. "You put air in the inner tube," he writes.

Jim Lawson, California football star, states that his barnstorming trip to Florida was not successful the folks down there "don't know the war's over and didn't care to see northern boys play football."

Wonder if Jim ever stopped to realize that the boom in Florida is a real estate boom and not a Red Grange she-bang, or that most of the persons in Florida are not native sons or even sons of the south?

"Hello, is this the jail? Well, is Mr. Kinbrough locked up there?" "No, we are awfully sorry, but he's not booked here. Call up again tomorrow, we may have him by that time."

And yet there are some jailers who think they lead a hard life.

Kentucky may have gone Republican at the last election, but just try and get those folks to vote against the pari-mutual machines at the race tracks. The state senate's vote was more than 3 to 1 to keep them. Horse racing in Kentucky is as natural as slot machine playing in Santa Ana.

Here's another typographical error recently published for the first time: "Several horses belonging to A. S. McKinney were stricken the other day with a strang melody."—F. L. Button, Oakland.

CANS ON HIGHWAY CAUSE ACCIDENT

Several empty cans, perched on a truck driven by Ayao Hutton, 229 West San Pedro street, Los Angeles, tumbled to the road, three miles south of Irvine station, yesterday afternoon, causing a machine, driven by Mrs. J. C. Peterson, 1437 South Union street, Los Angeles, to crash into them, swerve and overturn in a ditch, according to an accident report on file in the sheriff's office here.

Mrs. Peterson, who was accompanied by her husband, was cut on one hand. Mr. Peterson received cuts about the forehead.

Neither was seriously hurt and after receiving medical aid were able to return to their homes.

Both parties reported the accident.

If You Could Drive an Automobile 'Ad'

Read 'em and weep. If you could believe all automobile advertising, you get just as much for $500 as $5000. The following high-powered phrases were picked from recent automobile "ads": "Leads the world in motor car value," "In — alone, the qualities that satisfy every motor car ideal," "—the world's greatest six values," "more value per dollar, more power per unit of displacement, more pleasure per mile," "the finest automobile built regardless of price or size," "greatest all-year car in every phase of performance ever built," "greatest value buy in the world today," "no equal for power, economy, flexibility, simplicity and long life," "see if good judgment will permit any other choice," "most rugged chassis ever constructed," etc., etc., etc.

SOMEBODY MUST BE WRONG

Rather confusing, isn't it? And they can't all be right—somebody must be wrong. But here's one thing certain. An automobile "ad" won't take you over a long hill in high, or pass a car on the open road, or pick up ahead of the crowd in traffic or give you years of uninterrupted service. Long after an "ad" has been published and forgotten it is the car in an owner's hands that tells the FACTS. On the basis of what Rickenbacker will do for YOU, not only the day you buy it, but years after you purchase, we solicit your business and demand your consideration. Get the "feel" of this thoroughbred—ride in it, drive it. Do the things you have always wanted to do with a car but couldn't. ## OVERLAND TO BOOST OUTPUT 50 PER CENT

Production of the four-cylinder Overland, the light car product of Willys-Overland, will be 50 per cent greater for 1926 than during the last year, which was the record year for this model in the history of the organization, it was announced here today by Ray Schanhal, Overland dealer.

"The first indication of greater developments in the four-cylinder Overland came in September of last year, when the price on the standard sedan was dropped to $595, the lowest price ever put on a four-cylinder enclosed car with standard features of design and equipment, including three forward speed, sliding gear transmission, honeycomb radiator, heavy frame construction and standard-size body specifications," the dealer said.

"This price brought a volume of sales which exceeded by a large percentage the ability of the factory to keep production up with demand."

"The acceptance of this sedan at the price established was an immediate indication of a sales field which had never been sounded by any manufacturer of a standard type four-cylinder car."

"The total volume of sales in this four-cylinder model for the entire year of 1925 was over 100,000 cars, including all body types, of which there were four."

NEW CHRYSLER IS COMMENT SUBJECT

Walter P. Chrysler has scored again. At least that was the verdict of everyone who has seen the new Chrysler Imperial six since it was presented for the first time in Santa Ana at the Hancock Motors company showrooms, according to Paul Clark, manager.

A larger, heavier car than any previous Chrysler, the Imperial boasts an impressive array of new features which one discovers here and there about the body and chassis and which indicates why Chrysler has had a phenomenal success as a motor car manufacturer, says Clark.

The new Imperial embodies a number of features destined to please the most discriminating motorists. The instrument board, for instance, has dials within a hammered silver border, while on the dash a Fahrenheit gauge, electric gasoline gauge, cigar lighter, and electric clock are among the latest innovations.

While there are numerous mechanical features of the new Imperial which are worthy of detailed description, Clark states, the one that has caused most comment among Santa Ana automotive enthusiasts is the elimination of all spring shackles bolts and the use, instead, of rubber shock insulators. The ends of the springs are encased in a solid block of rubber, the springs themselves being protected by leather spring covers.

All models have been equipped with a steering wheel button by which lights can be thrown down for city driving, up for country driving and dimmed in courtesy to the drivers met on the highway.

6,699,750 BRICKS MADE BY BREA FIRM

BREA, Jan. 23.—Officers and stockholders of the Brea Brick company held their annual meeting in the offices of the company in Brea on January 20. All stock was represented except that held by H. Nobak, of Chicago.

The secretary's report showed the gross expenditure for the year to have been $85,152.80, the bulk of which represented compensation for labor and power. A total of 6,699,750 bricks were manufactured during the year and of that amount 4,334,415 were sold and delivered. Markets for the output of this company were found in the foothill towns of Pasadena, Monrovia, Azusa and other points in Los Angeles county as well as in Orange county. Brick was furnished for the Springdale school and for many new bungalows in North Broadway Park and numerous other locations in Orange county.

That the outlook for the 1926 volume of business is bright is indicated by the orders already booked in January, so far over 470,000 brick having been delivered. The company maintains its own fleet of trucks. Local labor is employed exclusively.

No change of officers of the company was made at the meeting and the stockholders remain practically as before.

RUBBER CONCERN OPENS STORE HERE

With W. L. Thompson as manager, the Hewins Rubber company has opened a branch store at 315 North Main street, the store here being No. 11 in the group of 15 branches operated by the company. The company wholesales and retails rebuilt tires, operating on a cash basis and on the policy of small profit at cash prices.

The plant of the company is located at Colton, and production approximates 350 tires daily.

The Hewins Rubber company also wholesales and retails new tubes. Thompson declares that volume purchases make it possible for the organization to make very attractive prices.

C. O. Hewins was here this week and completed plans for opening the branch here. Hewins formerly was a resident of this city.

CONSOLATION IS OFFERED AUTO THEFT VICTIMS

If your car has been stolen recently, you may find these facts consoling:

1. The chances range from six to nine out of 10 that the missing auto will be restored to you.

2. There is only one chance in 10 that your machine will be stripped or seriously damaged.

3. Your car will be returned to you within 90 days, or it most likely never will be recovered. The odds are in your favor, however, that it will be in your charge again within two weeks.

These statements are contained in a report just issued by the research department of the Gilmore Oil company, on the basis of information supplied from a number of sources, including the department of justice, the police department and sheriff's office. The report adds:

"If your car has not been stolen, it might be well to remember still another set of facts."

1. In spring, a young man's fancy not only turns to love but automobiles, as well—and 97 per cent of the stolen machines are taken by young men.

2. About 75 per cent of the stolen cars are driven off by joy riders. A simple precaution usually will prevent a joy-rider from molesting your machine. If your car is stolen, the chances are six to four you are careless with your property.

3. June and July are two of the "danger months." Others are January, February, March, April, May, August, September, October, November and December. Thefts of cars, however, usually mount rapidly around the vacation and holiday seasons.

There is one calling for which women would appear eminently suited, but in which, in practice, they do not engage. This is hall porter to women's clubs. Anyway, all the prominent clubs both in America and Europe employ men in this capacity.

The Marconi company refuses to accept women as wireless operators, whether on land or sea, though during the war it did employ one or two women as shore operators.

Healthy Praise for the New STAR SIX!

THE tide of Star Six popularity rolls overwhelmingly across the country since the car was first displayed one week ago! On the Pacific Coast, motor-wise millions give big, healthy applause!

And no wonder . . . forget the low price of $895 delivered here! Think only of the tremendous power of the smooth, six-cylinder Continental motor! Think of the long, speed lines of the two-tone bodies on the low slung, rugged frame; think of the double weight top material and the Spanish leather upholstery.

Think of the genuinely-pleasant riding ease because of 90 inches of semi-elliptic springs for the 107 inch wheelbase.

Mitchell May Be Called for Quiz

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Col. William Mitchell can and probably will appear before the house military committee in its aviation inquiry. Secretary of War Davis has announced that Judge Advocate General Hull had advised that the sentence of suspension from the army pending over Mitchell does not prevent him from appearing before congressional committees.

If the sentence is upheld, Mitchell would be on inactive status and could appear before such hearings at his own discretion, it was said. The committee has indicated its wish to call Mitchell.

HANSON TALKS TO SANTA ANA REALTY BOARD

Scoring the man who lives in the past and is unable to see the future of California, Ole Hanson, the owner and builder of San Clemente, the Spanish Village, Orange county's new beach city, addressed the Santa Ana Realty board, at Ketter's cafe, yesterday.

"Santa Ana and Orange county have just started to grow," Hanson told the realtors. "The trouble with many of us is that we are prone to judge property prices by the prices which existed a few years ago—before the great increase in population."

"We develop an attitude that the growth is over and fail to realize that the conditions of a few years ago still exist—that population is continuing to come here."

Urges Advertising Fund
Hanson urged the realtors to raise a fund for publicity and advertising purposes, promising to donate his share of money to "sell" Orange county to residents of Orange county and to the world at large.

"Orange county has everything," he declared, and cited federal agricultural reports, bank clearings and mineralogical surveys to show that the county's resources have barely been tapped up to the present time.

"You have the finest system of highways in Southern California," he said. "Your bathing beach is the finest that California boasts. You have a happy, prosperous people, and in Santa Ana, in proportion to population, you have as many fine homes as any city in the world."

Must Convince 'Hardshells'

"What you need to do is convince the 'hardshell' old-timer that development is not over. You must convince him that it has only begun and that he is in fact a pioneer of the new and greater development of the future. You talk of a publicity campaign in the Register, your local newspaper. That is a step in the right direction. I have found that your paper is as well edited as any newspaper in the whole state and that the men who control its destiny have the welfare of the county so much at heart that they are willing to go more than half way with you in beneficial publicity to back up your advertising. Through the campaign in the Register, you will sell Orange county to old residents, and then if you can follow the lead of Santa Monica and send your advertising to the Los Angeles and outside newspapers, you will reap untold benefits, just as Santa Monica has done."

Hanson touched briefly on his own Orange county project—the new beach city, six miles south of San Juan Capistrano.

Attempts Something Different

"As Santa Ana and Orange county grow and prosper, so will San Clemente grow," he said. "I'm trying to do something a little different here because in California we have lots of 'shack' beach communities and a few places where the rich man can live. What I am striving for is a beautiful beach community, within the reach of the ordinary citizen—a place where you and I can live and not be ashamed of our surroundings. I want to build a community of which I can be proud, of which Orange county can be proud, and of which California can be proud."

"I would like to see a sightseeing excursion arranged which would take the tourist who arrives in Los Angeles out through Orange county's orchards and through its beaches. I would like to see an Orange county man in charge of that line, so that every visitor to Southern California would be able to buy a ticket which would take him through this fertile county and along the wonderful coast line."

In closing his address, the subdivision member of the realty board to get together. He warned against knocking the other fellow and declared that the real estate dealer who felt that all Orange county property was worthy of praise would go further in building up his county than the one who would assert that only his own property had merit.

President John C. Wallace presided at the meeting. Committee reports were heard and routine business matters transacted.

Would Lop 1000 Men from Navy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The house has approved a provision of the navy appropriation bill to cut that service's enlisted strength by 1000 men. Naval committee members failed to carry out plans to seek a navy of 33,000 men, asked for by the navy department, and the figure was set at 32,000.

The high commands of the army and navy were bitterly indicted before the house military committee by Representative Curry, Republican, California, sponsor of several bills proposing a department of national defense and unified service, advocated by Col. William Mitchell.

"The older services," Curry said, "have failed to develop the air force. The air service is subordinate to the army and navy and is not given the place it deserves." Curry advocated adoption of his bill, asserting that the United States was the only country with a divided responsibility on the air force.

PUMPING PLANT AT COSTA MESA BEING TESTED

COSTA MESA, Jan. 23.—The Julian Petroleum corporation is now testing out its jack pumping plant, which in a few days will be hooked up with the company's eight producing wells, which have been closed down during the erection of the central pumping plant.

The new plant covers a floor space of 32x30 feet, the machinery being housed and set on concrete foundations. The motive power will be gas secured from the Southern Counties Gas company.

Two 1500-barrel tanks have been erected to store the oil while awaiting transportation to the company's refinery. At the present time, the output of these eight wells is not definitely known, but it is expected that they will average from 40 to 50 barrels each of 14 per cent gravity oil.

On Thursday, the Julian company sprung its ninth well, and will no doubt continue sinking wells until it has tested out its entire holdings in the Costa Mesa district.

The Sunset Oil company's No. 2 well has reached a depth of 900 feet, reaching the oil sands. Casing is now being lowered, after which it will be cemented to shut out water. It is expected that the well will be brought in in about two weeks. The company's No. 1 well is pumping steadily, but information as to its output has not been made public.

Dr. Rickard's No. 2 well has reached the oil sand and is expected to be brought in within a few days.

Interstate No. 2, which has been on the pump for some time, has been shut down for a few days while the well is being cleaned out.

The new house and outbuildings are for the use of the tenants. Mr. Bird expects to devote the most of his time after February 1 to his contracting business in Brea.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Two youths, notorious for having kidnaped a San Francisco policeman, have been under arrest here since January 16, it was learned today. The prisoners, identified as Frank Smith and Raymond Evans, are to be returned at once to the bay city.

They also are accused of staging more than a dozen drug store robberies here.

Evans has a bullet wound in the chin, received when the pair resisted arrest here.

DECISION ON TRUCK PERMIT IS POSTPONED

ANAHEIM, Jan. 23.—Hearings on the application of the Anaheim Truck and Transfer company for a state franchise to utilize certain of the public highways in the operation of its business were concluded at an adjourned session of the state railroad commission, held yesterday in the city hall, this city.

Leon Whittell, of Orange, a member of the state railroad commission, who presided over the sessions here, announced that final decision in the case will not be announced by the board until all evidence has been carefully weighed which, it is said, may require 30 days.

The application of the trucking concern asks the granting of a state franchise to cover operations of the concern between this city and Los Angeles and between this city and La Habra, it is stated.

At the outset of the case, the first hearing of which was held before the commission early in December, it assumed the proportions of a test case under the recent legislation covering such matters, and trucking concerns throughout the state watched with interest the progress of the local hearings.

On December 31, however, it lost this significance when the state railroad commission handed down a decision whereby it was ruled that the new law requiring trucking concerns that operate on the state highways to secure state franchises, should apply only to such concerns whose business requires the frequent use of the state highways.

This decision handed down in a "test" case initiated by Ben Moore, trucking contractor of Fanger, Northern California, simplified the local case.

TWO SHOT IN WAR ON GAS THIEVES

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—An alleged gasoline thief was fatally shot and one of his two companions was wounded by a police detective here early today.

The dead youth is Harold Wilson, 20. Daniel O'Shea, 25, who was shot in the left arm, and Douglas Young, 20, were captured.

Detective George Horstmeier said he surprised the youths drinking gasoline from an automobile near his home. When they leaped into a machine and started to drive away, Horstmeier jumped to the running board of their car. As the machine turned a corner, the detective was thrown to the pavement. He fired in the air in an attempt to halt the trio and then shot at the speeding car.

The automobile used by the young men is registered to the Westwood Lumber company. The youths are believed to be from Westwood.

An identification card found in Wilson's clothing gave the address of his nearest relative as Mrs. Charles Wilson, Chicago.

House Receives Farm Bill Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The agriculture department appropriation bill, totaling $126,220,000, of which $80,000,000 is for road construction, was reported to the house today by the appropriations committee. The measure carries $486,364 in excess of appropriations for the current year and is $3,245,073 less than budget estimates.

The committee increased appropriations for the weather bureau to provide for establishment of additional field stations in the new cotton regions of the southwest, a field station at Austin, Tex., and maintenance of a "fire-weather" warning service in Washington.

Budget estimates for studies of farm management and farm practice by the bureau of agricultural economics was boosted $11,506, by the committee.

For studies relating to the marketing and distribution of farm products, the committee recommended an appropriation of $525,988.

Funds for enforcement of the packers and stockyards act, the grain futures act and co-operative forest fire protection, livestock production experiments and dairying experiments also are included in the bill.

WELL PUMPING 200 BARRELS OF WATER, OIL

SEA BEACH, Jan. 23.—The Marland Oil company has its Bixby No. 1 well in the northwest area of the Seal Beach district on the pump, and is getting about 200 barrels a day, according to field reports.

Only about half of this gross output is oil, it is said, the remainder being emulsion, and free water.

Marland officials believe that the Seal Beach district presents the most serious water problem of any of the Los Angeles basin fields, which are notorious for this difficulty. It may be, it is said, that the oil sands and water sands are too closely associated to admit of an effective water shutoff, which will mean that the oil and water must be separated by traps and other devices after production. On the other hand, the general opinion among geologists is that the Shell wells and the Marland well still are off the main structure and the difficulties they have had with water are due to nothing but edge conditions.

The Shell company has recommissioned its Bryant No. 2 in the Seal Beach field near its original Bryant No. 1, according to official reports. The well was drilled to 6200 feet, but is plugged back to 5075 feet where it is standing cemented. The well came in about three weeks ago at somewhat the same rate of production as the Bryant No. 1, which has been making 50 barrels of oil and 1600 barrels of water for nearly two years.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 23.—The Baptist Missionary circle held its regular monthly meeting, Thursday afternoon in the bungalow. After a short business session, a program on the missionary work in Cuba and Porto Rico was held with Mrs. Conrad Oertly, assisted by Mrs. Whitten and Mrs. E. Beardsley, in charge.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Susan E. Chaffee on Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with a devotional service led by Mrs. G. F. Crane. Mrs. A. A. Jones, of Santa Ana, gave an instructive talk on the bill which will be on the ballot in November to place the Bible in the public schools, and urged members to push the work for this bill.

Mrs. S. E. Jewell reported that sixty-eight boxes of candy, cookies and walnuts had been sent to the enlisted men at Home Center, San Diego, for Christmas. The gift was acknowledged by the matron of the home, she reported.

The attendance at the church night school of religious education on Wednesday evening, reached well over the hundred mark.

Miss Jennie B. Lasby was the speaker of the evening. Her subject was "Holy Year."

Miss Lasby's address was on her trip abroad last year as a delegate to the conference. Her talk proved very interesting to the members present.

Five hundred was enjoyed during the evening. The hostess served refreshments to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCart, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. The fire was brought under control after it burst through the roof, but water and acid, pouring down through five floors ruined oil paintings and other art treasures.

Van Dien-Youngs And Laguna Club Clash Tomorrow

Laguna Beach and the Van Dien-Young company of Santa Ana, two of the ranking baseball clubs in Orange county, tomorrow will play at Laguna Beach the second game of their two-out-of-three series. The affair will begin at 2:15 o'clock.

The first contest, played last Sunday, was won by the Van Dien-Youngs, champions of the Harbor league. In this joust, Dennis White had the better of Willie Rangel in a fine pitcher's battle. White and Rangel, considered the two finest mound prospects developed here in recent years, have been signed for the St. Louis Browns by Jimmy Austin, veteran coach and scout.

If the Van Dien-Youngs win tomorrow's game they also will clinch the series. If Laguna Beach is victorious, a third and deciding contest will be played, probably on a neutral field.

AUTO SUSPECT ESCAPES AFTER THRILLING RACE

ORANGE, Jan. 23.—Following a sensational chase down South Glassell street, during which five pistol shots were fired at the fleeing car, Orange police Thursday night recovered a new enclosed automobile, believed to have been stolen in Los Angeles.

The suspected auto thief, after braving a hail of lead from Night Officers Earl Shaffer and Charles Wallace, escaped through an orange grove near the outskirts of the city.

The chase, which lasted for six city blocks, was enlivened by five revolver shots which Officer Wallace, standing on the running board of the police machine, sent after the fleeing machine.

As the speeding machine dashed across La Veta avenue, near the city limits, the lone driver leaped from the machine, leaving the car to run down the street, careening crazily from the curb until it finally came to a halt with a crash.

The machine, a late model enclosed car, was brought to a local garage, where examination revealed a temporary registration certificate issued to Walter Westfall, of 965 Fresno street, Los Angeles. The dealer's plate bore the name of Smith-Karlson, Los Angeles automobile agency. A driver's license, also issued to Westfall, was found in the car.

Suspicion was first directed to the car, when the driver traversed various local streets, acting suspiciously, according to the police.

Madame LaRue Is Wage Suit Victor

BALBOA, Jan. 23.—A civil action which has been pending in the local justice court for the past several months was completed yesterday when Justice of the Peace Ben Cope returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Mrs. W. S. Osgood, better known as Madame LaRue.

The action was brought by Mrs. R. J. Briscoe, of this city, against Mrs. Osgood in an effort to secure $24.50 which she claimed was due her son, Janvier Briscoe, for work done for Mrs. Osgood.

Hot words featured the hearing of the case here some time ago. Mrs. Osgood produced books which she claimed showed her payments to the Briscoe boy. Briscoe also produced a memorandum, but admitted that some of the entries in the book had been made after he had left the employ of Mrs. Osgood.

BALBOA ISLAND

BALBOA ISLAND, Jan. 23.—Edward Fink, island ferryman, and his wife, are spending a week in Imperial valley, where Mr. Fink is recuperating from an illness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Allen are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter at their home. The baby has been named Ena Elise. Both mother and baby are reported doing nicely.

Mrs. Paul Fink entertained at dinner on Sunday, friends from Huntington Beach, Mrs. Lester Reynolds and her mother, Mrs. Proctor. Mrs. Reynolds is the librarian of the above named city.

Word has been received by the Bill Smiths that Mort Paulsen Visel, who has been ill in the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, since before Christmas, is much improved in health, and hopes to leave the hospital in the near future. The Visels are frequent visitors at the "Ship House," their cottage on the island.

Buena Park Church May Build

BUENA PARK, Jan. 23.—The Congregational church held a meeting Wednesday evening to devise ways and means to provide more room for the growing congregation. The majority favored a new edifice to replace the old structure. J. E. Wright was appointed on a committee to secure architects' plans and get estimates of cost to present to the congregation.

LOAN BODY NAMES PAUL ELLSWORTH

BALBOA, Jan. 23.—The resignation of C. A. Thompson and the appointment of Paul Ellsworth as a director of the Tri-City Associates, Inc., and the decision to incorporate the organization this summer, raising the capitalization from $45,000 to $90,000, marked the meeting here yesterday of the directors of the concern.

Thompson, who with J. L. Ainsworth, Theodore Robins, H. H. Williamson and J. A. Gant composed the board of directors, resigned because of his continued absence in the east.

The increase in the capitalization of the corporation is regarded

REQUEST STAR MAIL ROUTE IN TUSTIN SECTION

TUSTIN, Jan. 23.—A petition signed by a large number of local persons asking for the return of the star mail route between this city and Santa Ana, has been dispatched to postal officials at Washington, D. C., it was announced today by Mrs. N. Phiney, postmistress.

The postal service formerly was given by a special carrier who met each train at Santa Ana. Last year, when a contract was awarded, the Tustin and Laguna Beach mail routes were combined. The petition sent to Washington is asking for the return of the service which will provide a direct connection with each train. All Tustin mail now goes through the Santa Ana postoffice.

Preparations were being made today to move the postoffice into its new quarters in the Knights of Pythias building. Boxes and other equipment ordered several months ago arrived here this week and is being installed.

as an indication of prosperity of the Newport bay district. The corporation is practically the same as a building and loan association, making small loans to local persons who purchase property.

No Demonstration can reveal all of BUICK Excellence

ANY time you drive a Buick you will wonder how such a remarkable car can be sold at such a moderate price.

In just a few minutes you will realize that you are starting, stopping, parking, driving with much greater ease and security. And that you are surrounded by quality and luxury which rank with the very finest.

But demonstration will tell only part of the Buick story, and you should know all of it. A demonstration cannot show you the enduring stamina of body and chassis that belongs to Buick. Years are necessary for that. It can only suggest the powerful ability of Buick's 75 horsepower Valve-in-Head engine, built for hills. It cannot tell you how thoroughly the Buick "Sealed Chassis" and the Buick "Triple Sealed" engine will protect Buick performance on dusty, gritty roads.

And it cannot even hint of the mental ease you will enjoy, with Buick Authorized Service "just around the corner," everywhere in America.

"Enclosed Car" Motor

Introduced at New York Show

Our showrooms are now devoted to a Special Nash Exhibit that practically duplicates the great New York Show display.

Here you may view personally the important new Nash developments—particularly the great new Nash "Enclosed Car" Motor.

In creating this new motor Nash deliberately disregarded general precedent which was accustomed to shape the capabilities of a motor to open car requirements.

On the contrary, Nash especially engineered this motor to provide the finest calibre of performance for the enclosed car.

In utter smoothness, in quietness and in phenomenal acceleration, this new "Enclosed Car" Motor clearly outdistances all that has gone before.

It creates an absolutely new standard of enclosed car performance that will prove a revelation to you—for it is surpassingly superior in every phase of operation.

There's a full 25% greater volume of symmetrically smooth power—power without a single "rough spot" thruout the entire range.

And the speed with which you accelerate is lightning-like—23% faster than formerly in going from any given rate to a higher rate.

Yet your travel-cost per gallon of fuel is held down to the old low level.

And so expertly is the motor designed and constructed that under average driving conditions you may drive it to a mileage high in the five-figure class without further thought except to change oil at the usual periods.

POETS BEAT SANTA ANA BASKETTERS, 38-27

Billy Evans Says

Because Red Grange, Ernie Nevers and a few other college grid stars decided to turn professional before graduating, college reformers have been deploring the football status in our institutions of learning.

However, there are a few optimists among the college presidents and professors. One of them is President John M. Thomas of Rutgers. His remarks are refreshing coming at this particular time.

"I can see nothing radically wrong with football as it now exists," says the Rutgers prexy.

"I have confidence in the ability and the character of the men in charge of athletics in our colleges. Taking them as a whole they are sincerely devoted to the building of sound manhood in the American youth. All of them understand perfectly that scholarship comes first."

"Professional football means nothing to the college game. The hysteria over the pro brand of sport will soon die out, as football is a college sport."

There is nothing the matter with football despite the efforts of the pessimistic reformers to make it seem the game has become so big that it is a menace to college life.

FOOTBALL ALL RIGHT
Perhaps no one player has done so much to create the present confusion in football circles as Red Grange.

A considerable amount of the trouble has been caused by Grange being misquoted. In a recent interview he commented on this unpleasant feature of his professional football experience.

It seems much copy of a sensational nature, based in no way on fact, has been turned out by scribes because they believed it was good reading.

In this connection I recently received a very interesting letter from L. M. Tobin who disseminates to the world interesting facts about the athletes and their doings at the University of Illinois.

No one outside of Coach Zuppke knows Grange better than Tobin. No one has written more good copy about the same Grange than Tobin. As a matter of fact, Tobin did as much to make Grange a national figure in football as did Coach Zuppke.

During his freshman year at Illinois, when no one knew a thing about Red Grange, Tobin started to exploit him. What he said was based on fact and Grange made good on all Tobin's predictions.

STATUS OF GRANGE
Recently there appeared a story in the press that Red Grange's famous 77 sweater had been removed from the trophy room at Illinois, and was being kicked around the locker room, that his fraternity brothers had turned his picture to the wall and much more guff of a like nature.

"The stories that have been carried about Grange's jersey are most absurd," says Tobin.

"The truth of the matter honestly is that some enthusiast suggested that the famous 77 jersey worn by him in his final game be preserved forever in the Illinois trophy room."

"The matter was not taken seriously enough by the athletic council to even receive the slightest consideration."

"Grange was given his football outfit like all other seniors on the team after their final game. The locker room as related by an eastern writer is pure bunk. It has been in Grange's possession since the close of the Ohio State game."

Grange, according to Tobin, has always been and still is the idol of the alumni and undergraduates of Illinois.

Come, see and hear Dr. Lillian Yeoman, Sunday evening at 7:30, at the Four Square Tabernacle, branch of the Angeles Temple, corner Fairview and Sycamore.

Ingram Resigns At Indiana; To Coach Academy?

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—Appointment of "Navy Bill" Ingram, former Navy gridiron star, as football coach at Annapolis, was regarded here today as highly probable following his resignation as coach at Indiana University.

The resignation followed quickly on the heels of the return of Ingram from Annapolis, where he conferred with athletic officials of the navy.

While Ingram was silent on what transpired at the conference, it was believed he was given reasonable assurance of the eastern coaching berth.

SANTA ANA, POMONA FIVES MIX TONIGHT

Pomona junior college will be given a reception on the basketball court here tonight when the Santa Ana junior college Deans meet them for the third conference match at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Relative strength of the two teams is not known but Coach Graham Harris will send the best team on the floor that has yet represented Santa Ana.

The probable starting lineup will be with Russell Kottick and Emerson Labrucherie at forwards, Emerson Biggs at center, Lawrence Kox and Everett Lutz at guards.

S. A. Volleyball Team Victorious
An easy series in volleyball was taken by the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. team last night at Riverside when they won by a 4 to 1 score. Earlier this season, Captain Harold Smith's netmen were trounced by the north-easters here and Santa Ana returned the compliment.

Next Friday evening the volleyball series closes with a game against Long Beach on the gymnasium floor here. Win or lose, Santa Ana will have no bid in the league title. That has been clinched by San Diego.

Short Sports
NEW YORK—Jack Zivie, Pittsburgh welterweight, received an unpopular ten-round decision over Tommy Milligan, European champion.

PHILADELPHIA—The Pennsylvania boxing commission approved of an offer of $500,000 made to Jack Dempsey to fight against Harry Wills here next summer and of $300,000 for a contest against Gene Tunney. The offer was made by Herman Taylor, Philadelphia promoter.

NEW YORK—Mike McNally, veteran utility infielder, was released outright by the New York Giants to the Buffalo International league club.

CHICAGO—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran ace of the Chicago Cubs, has signed his 1926 contract, Alexander begins his 16th season in the majors next April.

BASKETBALL BITS
If the skeptic who said that Santa Ana never would be a "basketball town" had been at the Santa Ana Whittier basketball game last night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium here, he would have been converted. More than 500 spectators jammed the balcony.

Fouls were numerous, by both the Santa Ana and Whittier players. Three men were removed because of being charged with four personal fouls. A total of 30 fouls was called. Of these, Santa Ana was charged with 14 and Whittier, 16.

Fouls often win or lose a game. Santa Ana made seven fouls out of the 16 and Whittier was even worse. Ferris Edgar, Santa Ana forward, seemed to be the marked victim for fouls. He had nine committed against him and he made good four of them.

Although handicapped in height, Willard White, stocky little Santa Ana guard, more than makes up

CHICAGO GETS ARMY AND NAVY GAME IN 1926

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Football fans in the Middle West who never have seen an Army-Navy football game no doubt will be overjoyed that the 1926 battle is to be played in Chicago, but wait—

Just wait until they try to get tickets!

Even with a promised seating capacity of 100,000 they will find, like the East, that it is largely a private game and the street parade of the cadets and the midshipmen will be as much of the ceremonies as thousands will be able to see.

The game was sent away from the Eastern seaboard for the first time, it was announced, to give an official flavor to the ceremonies that will dedicate Chicago's new stadium to her war dead and the nature of the occasion will add to the demand for tickets.

The Army and Navy, it was promised when the arrangements were being made, will get 40,000 tickets each and out of their 20,000 tickets each will be given to the civilian committee handling the game will have to take care of city and state officials, politicians and everyone who put his name on the petition that helped get the game.

New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore are annual bidders for the game, but for the entertainment of the lay population but for the trade that it brings to their business men.

Fans in the east have become accustomed to the fact that the big three games and the Army-Navy games are private family affairs, but the western fans are of sturdier breed and they will not be so resigned when the sold-out announcement is made.

GRANGE TO OPPOSE S. F. TEAM SUNDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The "galloping ghost" goes into action again tomorrow.

"Red" Grange will lead his Chicago Bears onto the gridiron here Sunday against a picked team, including "Buck" Bailey, local star, and George Wilson, All-American back of the University of Washington.

Although there will be no 75,000 crowd such as saw Grange play last week in Los Angeles, the seating capacity of the small Kezar stadium will be taxed, it is predicted.

Grange, of course, will be the day's attraction, but Wilson will be expected to do even better than he did in Los Angeles, when his record of gains surpassed Grange's.

Carpenter's Round
Tunney pulled up in the ninth and Carpenter carried the round. And with it went his final hope of victory.

The bell rang for the tenth. The two danced to the center of the ring and edged about watching for the opening that is always sure to come.

Suddenly Tunney hunched forward. His left whipped out and there was a crack as Carpenter's chin caught the full force of the blow. The Frenchman dropped. Instantly Gene shot a right to the head.

Georges crashed to the floor like a wounded deer. The solemn tolling that was ultimately to be Carpenter's requiem began. The stricken fighter began to wave his feet. At the count of nine he was up—and "out."

Tunney had ceased to be a single, active fighter for Georges Carpenter—he was a hazy procession of Tunneys that danced around Georges as the Frenchman's befuddled brain sought to focus the scene before him.

Tunney leaped forward. Another crack to the jaw and Carpenter went down again. He came up without waiting for the count and went into a desperate clinch. When things began to clear up a bit he backed away, intent on keeping the American off.

But Gene released a hard uppercut that rang as true as the home run of a Ruth or a Cobb. Georges recoiled into the ropes. Referee Andy Griffin stepped up to lead the suffering fighter to the corner. The bout was obviously over.

Georges Returns to Fight
But Carpenter, battered, bleeding, beaten, waved him away. Griffin stepped back in astonishment. And Georges returned to the fight. Three uppers and another smashing left to the jaw and Carpenter was down again. Somehow he got to his feet. As he grasped blindly at Tunney he made you think of a drowning man clutching at a straw. Tunney, thoroughly tired, tried to finish his work. A blow that was little more than a push sent Carpenter to the mat for the fourth time. And then came the bell.

Georges lasted the next three rounds because Tunney was too exhausted to hit a solid blow. And in the fourteenth Tunney put all his strength into a left to the body that sent Carpenter to the floor as the bell rang. The Frenchman writhed in pain and his handler, the voluble Descamps, protested the blow was low.

But Georges came out for the fifteenth not even able to stand erect and Griffin led him back to his corner, closing a dramatic fight that had really ended in the tenth, when Tunney unleashed that ripping left to the jaw.

HISTORY MAKING HAYMAKERS; HOW CARP K. O. MADE TUNNEY

GENE TUNNEY

AND STAY DOWN!
THE DECIDING PUNCH CAME IN THE TENTH ROUND

By JOE WILLIAMS
A crashing left-hook that undermined itself like a darting snake and landed flush on the chin of Georges Carpenter set Gene Tunney definitely on the road to greatness, a road he is still traveling, with a possibility of seeing it carry him to the topmost pinnacle of fame a match with Dempsey and the heavyweight championship.

The record books will tell you
Gene Tunney knocked out Georges Carpenter in the fifteenth round of their memorable battle in the Polo Grounds July 24, 1924. But it was that smashing knockdown punch in the tenth that told Georges he was a beaten man. Only his unconquerable spirit, that amazing 30,000 fans, carried the Frenchman through four more rounds.
There was no possibility of his winning after the tenth.

For eight rounds Tunney had out-boxed Carpenter. A boxing match was all it could be called. The burly Luis Firpo, overflowing in a ringside seat, with the memory of his own marvelous battle with Dempsey in the same arena the September before, must have smiled de-rively at the spectacle.

Tunney pulled up in the ninth and Carpenter carried the round. And with it went his final hope of victory.

The bell rang for the tenth. The

HELEN REACHES FINALS IN BIG FRENCH MATCH

CANNES, France, Jan. 23.—

Helen Wills, American tennis champion, entered the final round of the Metropole tournament here today when she defeated Miss Henrietta Contoslavos, young French star, in two sets at 6-4.

CANNES, France, Jan. 23.—Unable to disguise the satisfaction that her game is approaching her real form, Helen Wills, American tennis champion, entered the semi-final round of the Metropole tournament today against Miss Henrietta Contoslavos, young French star.

In the other half of the round Miss Vlasco, French girl, meets Miss Cadle, an English player, and it is considered certain that Miss Wills and Miss Vlasco will meet tomorrow in the final round.

Although Miss Suzanne Lenglen made the sly remark that the American girl's game could not be appraised accurately until she plays Miss Vlasco, the majority of the critics expect an American victory, as Miss Wills defeated the French girl rather easily in the final round for the Olympic championship in 1924.

The increasing popularity of the young American girl was shown yesterday when the crowd deserted the court where Miss Lenglen was playing mixed doubles to watch Miss Wills, and by the hearty reception that she was given today at the clubhouse.

Legion and Y Basketball Men Battle Tonight

A basketball game between two Santa Ana teams is on the books for tonight. The Y. M. C. A. quintette will take on the recently organized American Legion squad at the American Legion gymnasium at 8 p. m.

Earl Jones, manager of the Legion outfit, today requested all members of the War veterans' team to report at 7:30 o'clock. L. E. Bryan, George Hobbs, "Sandy" Loeschner, Benson, Don Jerome, Herb Eldred, Ivan Belcher and Kreutzenberger will play with the Legion.

Two games have been arranged for the Legionnaires next week. Tuesday night the team will meet the Fullerton Athletic club at Fullerton. The Whittier Y. M. C. A. quintette will be played at Whittier Thursday.

Georges lasted the next three rounds because Tunney was too exhausted to hit a solid blow. And in the fourteenth Tunney put all his strength into a left to the body that sent Carpenter to the floor as the bell rang. The Frenchman writhed in pain and his handler, the voluble Descamps, protested the blow was low.

But Georges came out for the fifteenth not even able to stand erect and Griffin led him back to his corner, closing a dramatic fight that had really ended in the tenth, when Tunney unleashed that ripping left to the jaw.

BOWLING with the CHAMPION Jimmy Smith

THE APPROACH

The approach, like the stance, plays a big part in the ten-pin pastime. You must approach the foul line in the proper manner. If not, you'll meet with little success.

As you "come up" from the crouch, bring the ball a little above waistline. At the same time step forward with right foot. (For south-pawers the reverse, of course, applies.)

I find a 12-foot approach is sufficient. That permits four steps of three feet each. Some find even a shorter run suits them better. However, don't get out of breath trying to do a miniature stride. It isn't a foot race.

I use a natural, easy stride. Don't make your approach as though you were being clocked. Take your time. Too much speed is apt to carry you past the foul line and throw you out of position.

Gauge your stride and your "run-up" so you won't be in danger of committing a foul. You must figure on a fair "slide" as you finish your fourth step.

Many players, especially beginners, find it difficult to stay in fair territory. Practice and timing of stride will soon correct this rather common fault.

EDGAR, SIEGEL STAR FOR POLY COURT VARSITY

Locals Nab Early Lead But Fall By Wayside As Foe Rallies in Third Period

Santa Ana's high school basketball team was defeated, 38 to 27, by Whittier in the second Coast Preparatory league game of the season on the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium floor here last night. A gallery of 500 spectators watched the match.

During the second quarter, the Saints had the visitors slipping, the locals holding a slight margin from the first basket. This was maintained until the half when the Poets came up from behind and won the game.

The defeat keeps Santa Ana in the cellar without having won a conference game this year.

Ferris Edgar, Santa Ana's clever forward ace, was Poly's best bet on the floor. He scored 15 out of the 27 points Santa Ana gained. From all angles of the court he sank long shots with apparent ease. The Santa Ana offense centered around him.

Other Forwards Covered
The weakened link in the Santa Ana chain was in the failure of Santa Ana's other forwards to score at opportune times. Both Cliff Walker and Harry Rademacher, although they played hard, missed several chances at baskets. Captain Ed Siegel, at center, contributed eight points. On the defense, Willard White and Floyd Rister, Poly guards, kept the Poets well covered, forcing the visitors to long shots.

Santa Ana tallied the first points when Edgar made a foul throw and Siegel shot a basket. Whittier came back strongly. Four baskets were made in as many minutes but Santa Ana rallied and again swept into the lead. The quarter ended with the score 10 to 8 in Santa Ana's favor.

Second Period Is Thriller
Tight playing marked the second period. Whittier tied the score. Then Santa Ana recovered the lead. Shots by Edgar and Siegel kept the visiting quintette trailing until the last shot before the half closed, when Whittier forged into an 18 to 17 lead.

Opening the last act with a determined attack the Poet squad gained a safe lead before they were checked. They were never threatened again.

It was the third stanza that placed the game on the ice for Whittier. During the single period, they tallied 18 points. The score at the close of the quarter was Whittier 35, Santa Ana 23.

No material change was made in the score during the closing period. Santa Ana crept a little closer but neither team was able to start an effective scoring attack before the shortened period ended.

FLIERS KEPT SAFE ABOVE THE GROUND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The fate that befell Pilot Charles H. Ames of the air mail service when he crashed into a mountain one night near Beaver Falls, Pa., no longer threatens aviators.

Radio has come to the rescue. It now furnishes an apparatus by which pilots may fly through blackest night without fear of striking an obstruction. It is designed to guide the fliers up and down mountainsides at an even distance from the ground.

This remarkable device is one of the many inventions of C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, D. C., best known as inventor of a method for transmitting and receiving photographs and motion pictures by radio.

Kept Free of Ground. Jenkins call his airplane safety device a "radio altimeter," but it is different from the ordinary altimeter, in that it keeps the aviator a definite distance from the ground no matter how rolling it is, instead of merely telling how high he is above sea level.

The instrument has already been placed on some of Uncle Sam's mail carrying planes, for experimental purposes.

If in phase, it lights a tiny lamp on the instrument board of the airplane which indicates that the plane is flying at a correct distance. If, however, the returning wave is out of phase the pilot is warned that he is approaching a mountainside and should lift his machine to a higher altitude.

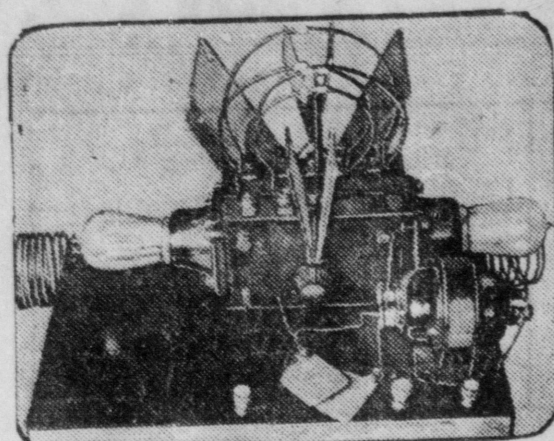

Description of Apparatus. Just as a mirror reflects objects, radio waves are reflected, especially very short waves. The radio altimeter makes use of a wave length of five meters and when this is transmitted from an airplane, the wave upon striking the ground is reflected back to the airplane or the source from which it was sent.

This reflected wave is either in phase or out of phase with the transmitted wave. The radio altimeter makes use of a short wave transmitting set and a short wave radio receiving set. Both are ordinarily receiving vacuum tubes, the transmitter employing two tubes and the receiver one.

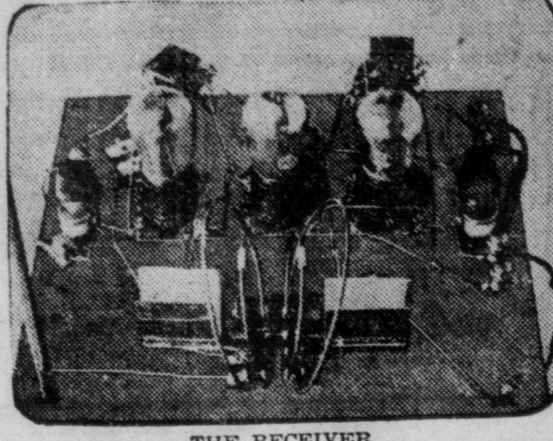

The receiving antenna consists of two coils of seven turns of wire each—one for the ordinary antenna and the other for a counterpoise—and the receiving antenna consists of a curtain rod, which can be lengthened or shortened.

Extensive experiments have determined that this radical innovation is possible. As a result, both government and commercial aircraft may soon be flashing through the air, penetrating fog or darkness, without the usual hazards of bumping into or landing on a mountainside because of the lack of forewarning.

SAFE FOR NIGHT FLYING

THE TRANSMITTER

THE RECEIVER

The perils of night flying, the fear of crashing into mountainsides, are banished by these small radio instruments forming the "Radio Altimeter." It is the invention of C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, D. C., and is designed to keep pilots at an even keel above ground.

TRY TO GET EUROPE, BUT DON'T BE FOOLED

By ISRAEL KLEIN

Get your set in the pink of condition to participate in the trans-Atlantic tests that will be conducted during International Radio Week, January 24 to 30.

But beware of "imitations." During that week many broadcasters will try to lure their programs across the Atlantic to be received overseas, while British and other European stations will try to be heard on this side of the ocean.

For the first five nights of the week, between 9 and 10 central standard time, American stations will broadcast. Between 10 and 11, central time, stations here will be silent to give fans a chance to listen in on the European stations.

The other two days American and Canadian stations in the various time zones will broadcast, while others will be silent, to enable fans to get long distance in this country.

But there's a serious warning. Look around for neighboring aerials and see if there aren't any receivers more powerful than yours near you. If so, you may be getting Europe through that set and not directly.

This lies in the fact that fans with powerful sets try to put on all the power they can, and make their sets oscillate highly, in order to get just faint reception of a distant station. Of course, such sets as neutrodyne and radio frequency amplified units are more or less proof against oscillation. But even these may be made to oscillate when the rheostat is turned "way up." Even a super-heterodyne can regenerate. So watch your step—crystal and one-tube set owners—and look around before you make a rash statement about hearing Paris any of these nights.

RECEPTION TESTS

National tests of radio reception to determine the causes of static and fading will be held on the nights of February 9, 10, and 11 from 8 to 11 o'clock. The tests will be conducted by the Stewart-Warner corporation, in co-operation with the Northwestern University. There will be more than 5000 official observation stations taking part in the tests.

"FROZEN TO HIS SET"

Out in the land where "men are men" lives a South Dakota cowpuncher who sends in the following letter to KOA, Denver: "I'm almost due north of Denver, where horses run wild and the weather goes to 60 degrees below zero. When it's too cold to sleep I sometimes stay up all night listening to radio programs."

MEXICO USES RADIO

The Mexican government makes use of radio to diffuse education among its people. Special attention is being given to the education of the Indians by means of radio. Receiving sets are placed in Indian districts and programs of special interest are broadcast.

LOCATES PERSONS

Station KOA, Denver, has a hobby for locating missing persons. The station broadcasts the description of the person and invariably is successful in locating the persons.

IRISH RADIO STATION

The first broadcasting station in the Irish Free State has been erected near Dublin. The station operates on a wavelength of 390 meters. Its call letters are 2-RN.

INSTRUCTION POPULAR.

A majority of listeners to Spanish instruction broadcast by KOA, Denver, are women. This feature has a large appeal and the Denver station received hundreds of letters concerning it. The letters have been sent from listeners living in practically every state in America.

"AIR COLLEGE."

On January 20 WVIC, Hartford, Conn., will begin a series of talks by Wesleyan professors. All of the talks will be given on Wednesday nights at 9 o'clock, with the exception of one on February 11, which will be broadcast at 7:35. The last talk of the series will be given May 12.

COLLEGE TEACHES RADIO

Radio construction and operation are being taught in the electrical engineering department at Oklahoma A. and M. college. One course is for students who are fans and the other is a more advanced and technical course.

Plans Coast Chain of Radio Stations

By NEA Service

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Station KFI here has entered upon an ambitious broadcasting program for 1926. A preliminary event on the progressive schedule was a re-broadcast attempt on the night of December 22. A program originating at KFI here was re-broadcast by KFKX, Hastings, Neb., WOC, Davenport, Ia., and WGY, Schenectady, N. Y. Programs from KFI are now being broadcast simultaneously by KPO, San Francisco. This is made possible by connecting the two stations by means of 500 miles of private long distance telephone wires. KFI plans to organize a chain of re-broadcasting stations on the western coast.

Short Cuts

Things to Know in Building and Operating a Receiver

Shake your "co-conspirator's" hand and the radio speaks! It's easy. A concealed wire leads from one phone-jack terminal to your fellow-conspirator's hand. One loud-speaker cord tip is hooked to the other jack terminal and the second to a wire hidden under your coat and extending down your sleeve to your hand. The handshake thus has the same effect as plugging in the speaker.

Too high A or B voltages lower tubes' powers of electron emission and cause distortion. For the plates, 22½ volts on detector tubes and 90 on amplifiers are plenty, unless a C battery is hooked between the F posts on the audio transformers and the negative battery line. The filament should be burned just bright enough to obtain a moderate signal.

To make a dial on which you can write call letters at the point of which stations are received, obtain a circular piece of cardboard one inch larger than the dial, glue it to the back of the dial and extend the original dial markings perpendicularly on the cardboard, using these pen markings as pointers to the call letters to be written in as stations are received.

To put a dull finish on the panel rub it lengthwise with fine sandpaper until smooth, rub it again with oiled sandpaper and dry it with a soft cloth.

Sycamore Rebekah Lodge No. 140 will hold their regular meeting in I. O. O. F. Hall, Saturday, Jan. 23rd, at 8 p. m. At this time the new officers will occupy their chairs for the first time and a short program will follow the regular routine of business.

PAUL REESE RETURNING

It will doubtless interest many receptionists to learn that Paul Reese, long associated with the KFI staff, will again be heard from the Los Angeles station after an absence during which he has devoted himself to training his fine tenor voice and coaching in operatic roles.

RADIO NEWS SERVICE

Station KOA, Denver, will provide mountain newspaper editors with information in case of storms or blizzards which make telephone and telegraph communication impossible. This service is planned to connect the "snowbound towns" with the outside world.

RADIO IN PLANES

The Swedish Air Traffic Society is planning an air fleet of "taxicabs." These flying vehicles will be equipped with radio so that the passengers can enjoy concerts as they sail through the air.

TO TEACH CHARLESTON

WBCN, Chicago, is going to teach listeners how to do the Charleston. This station recommends the dance to those persons who have a surplus of energy and who can make their legs do the corkscrew motions necessary for the dance.

USE "BROADCAST"

Don't write your favorite radio station and tell them that you enjoyed the program they "broadcast." Say "broadcast," as it sounds better and it's right!

RADIO TO LINK NATIONS

Investigations are being made to determine the feasibility of connecting American and English telephonic lines by radio.

NORTHERN STATION

The Canadian government has recently opened a radio station at Akavik on the delta of Mackenzie river, 60 miles from the Arctic ocean. This station gives direct communication with Edmonton, the capital of Alberta, 1700 miles away.

Vulgar Talk Is Under Ban

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—KFI has an arrangement which cuts off an entertainer or speaker without the person knowing that he is talking to a "dead mike."

The studio director holds a small bulb, similar in appearance to a lemon, and he squeezes this when he wants to cut off the current. This arrangement was introduced because entertainers and speakers often use shady expressions and vulgar words, which are under ban in the KFI studio.
